LUVALLE 3RD; SMALLWOOD UNDER KNIFE

California Negro's Time 46.5 In Hard Race; Finns Take 5000

OLYMPIC STADIUM, BERLIN, Aug. 7.—(UP)—Archibald Williams, University of California Negro, won the Olympic 400-meter title today, giving the United States its tenth men's track and field title of the 11th Olympic Games.

The dusky Californian, who holds the world record of 46.1, was clocked in 46.5 seconds as he broke the tape a fifth-of-a-second ahead of Arthur Godfrey Brown, bespectacled Cambridge university sophomore running for Great Britain.

Jimmy LuValle, Negro graduate of U. C. L. A., finished third, William Roberts of Great Britain was fourth; Bill Fritz, Canada, fifth and John Wilfred Loring, Canada, sixth.

LuValles and Roberts finished so close together that each was clocked in 46.8.

Hitler Misses Session The weather was sultry, and the track heavy for the event, which was watched by a crowd of 35,000.

Williams' victory gave the United States its first clean sweep of the 100, 200, 400 and 800 meter events since 1912. He also recorded the sixth Negro victory of ten scored by the United States, Jesse Owens, Ohio State thunderbolt, had scored a triple in the broad jump, 100 and 200 meters; Johnny Woodruff of Pittsburgh won the 800 and Cornelius Johnson of Los Angeles took the high jump.

Harold Smallwood of Ventura, Cal., who probably would have made the finals, was withdrawn from the semi-finals earlier today when he suffered an appendicitis attack which required an operation. Smallwood was reported resting easily this afternoon in the West End hospital.

Williams' triumph brought the United States within one victory of equalling the mark it set at Los Angeles in 1932 when it won eleven titles. With six more events to go, it was almost certain the American athletes will surpass that figure.

United States is far ahead of the world in points, having 167. Finland forged into second place today by finishing one-two in the 5000 meter run, with 57 1-4 points. Germany is third with 54 3-4.

Finland's Gunnar Hoekert won the 5000 meters scoring his nation's fourth consecutive triumph. He covered the distance in 14:22.3, a new Olympic record, Lauri Lehtinen finished second in his countryman.

A Swede, John Jonsson finished third, and Mohel Murakowski of Japan, who was fourth in the 10,000, was fourth also in the 5000. Josef Noji of Poland was fifth.

Lehtinen and Jonsson both broke the former Olympic mark. Lehtinen's time was 14:25.5 and Jonsson's 14:29. Murakowski equaled the record.

One more victory seemed assured for the United States in the decathlon.

warned that if the defendants, Francisco Espinosa, except for one item, returned to the United States, the sentence would be carried out.

The offer sounded good to one of the defendants, Francisco Espinosa, except for one item, returned to the United States, the sentence would be carried out.

The court would not, it seemed. The more severe sentences were dealt out today to Apolinario Montoya, said to have beaten Sam Hunkler, picking crew foreman, with a steel cable; to Primo Rodriguez, who threatened Deputy Sheriff Steve Duhart and was hand-cuffed and slapped for his pains; and to M. Arias, who talked too much in court.

Arias, who wore a snappy Van Dyke beard, side-burns and mustaches, informed the court, when asked if he had any legal reason to show why judgment should not be pronounced, that the jury had convicted him without sufficient evidence. When sentence was pronounced he remarked sarcastically, "Is that all?" and, a moment later, "Do whatever you want." Perhaps fortunately for him, he spoke in Spanish.

Two-month terms were meted out to seven defendants viewed as less prominent in the case, including Francisco Espinosa, Simon Stranani, Adolphus Sepulveda, Aliso Alvarez, Herlindo Perez, Domingo Escamilla and Joe Venegas.

The trial of Gregorio Delgado, only one of the 116 Mexican strikers arrested at the John Wagner ranch, Placencia, also on July 6, was held for trial today, was set for August 31 when he pleaded not guilty to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. That charge had been substituted for the riot charge when all but one of the 116 defendants were released on a writ of habeas corpus, for lack of identification. Delgado is alleged to have attacked A. B. Andrade, orchard guard, from Anaheim.

Attorney Grover Johnson, of the International Defense League, reputed Communist organization, appeared for the defense of Delgado today.

Former Gov. Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts said Smith had a tentative speaking engagement in Boston but that no date had been set. Evidence that the Jeffersonian conference here would decide not to put a conservative presidential candidate in the field indicated that Smith would be compelled to endorse Governor Landon.

Comstock Withdraws
As Smith's plans were revealed, another former governor, William A. Comstock of Michigan, withdrew from the rump Democratic conference. Comstock had accepted an invitation to be present but telegraphed the conference that he would not attend.

Comstock bolted the New Deal last February in a statement saying President Roosevelt and Postmaster General James A. Bailey had broken promises to the Michigan Democratic organization. He said then that the administration in Washington had preferred to take the advice of Senator James Couzens and Father Charles E. Coughlin rather than of the regular Democratic organization.

But the governor explained today in a long distance telephone conversation with the United Press that his friends had "put pressure" on him to withdraw from the Jeffersonian conference.

The conference convened today under the leadership of Sterling

R. Edmunds, St. Louis attorney, and former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri. The Jeffersonians laid a barrage against the New Deal as they assembled.

Ely, Attack President
Ely said Mr. Roosevelt had "departed from the Democratic party." Bainbridge Colby, secretary of the state in the second Wilson administration, charged that the "Washington administration regards Democratic principals as annoying and irritating."

Others complained that the Roosevelt administration had kidnapped the names and symbols of the Democratic party, but had rejected its traditional principles. Ely predicted Gov. Landon will carry every New England state.

"I am going to vote for Gov. Landon and I am going to speak in behalf of his candidacy," Ely told questioners.

His said Rep. William Lemke, Union party presidential candidate, might show strength in New England because of his endorsement by Father Coughlin.

"I don't agree with all Father Coughlin says," Ely explained, "but he apparently is not a communist and not a socialist. I am not 100 per cent for his economics but he appeals to a certain class of people who have struggled and worked hard without acquiring that social security they desire."

Strengthens Hawaiian Military Defense
HONOLULU, T. H., Aug. 7. — (UP)—The United States army and navy is spending $20,000,000 during 1936 to build up Hawaiian military defense projects, a United Press survey revealed today.

The immediate aim of the expenditures is to make the island of Oahu a lethal defensive point for the protection of 6000 miles of American mainline and coastline.

Major General Hugh A. Drum, Hawaii army department commander, has allocated $7,000,000 for use this year in construction of new army facilities and improvement of existing ones.

Five Year Program
This amount will be drawn as the first year's installment from a five-year $49,000,000 program outlined by congress.

The navy will spend $13,000,000 taken from an appropriation of $100,000,000 set aside for a naval improvement program.

Major General Drum has asked for 25,000 soldiers to constitute Hawaii's standing army which is now comprised of 20,000 — all peacetime troops.

Drum disclosed he plans to spend a total of $20,000,000 for defense needs and $25,000,000 for housing facilities.

The navy has called bids for a $10,000,000 Pearl Harbor drydock and a $1,500,000 dredging project for excavation and construction of fleet moorings.

Army engineers are spending $1,000,000 in building roads through the Oahu mountains.

SPAIN AROUSES HITLER'S FIRE

It was said in authoritative quarters, only after Russia's position has been clarified. Russian trades unionists have just sent $2,400,000 to the anti-fascist Spanish government.

It was indicated Germany's attitude toward neutrality would be that of fascist Italy—an agreement which would stop anti-Nazi and anti-fascist propaganda in countries outside Spain must be in prerequisite to a hands off agreement in the Spanish revolt.

Today's protest concerned the charge that left wing extremists in Catalonia executed four Germans.

Even as the government was considering what course to take, the Nazi party foreign department announced names of three more Germans whose deaths in the revolt, it said, had been confirmed—Johanna Imhoff, 70, shot dead at Santander "by deliberate attack;" Heinz Voss, of Hamburg, died of injuries in a shooting affray at Gijon; and Hans Hahner, Nazi party member, killed at Barcelona "while helping transport wounded to hospital."

LOYALIST BATTLESHIP BOMBARDS ALGERCIAS
GIBRALTAR, Aug. 7.—(UP)—Gibraltar residents watched from houseboats today one of the big bombardments of the Spanish war. The loyalist battleship Jaime Primo, a cruiser, and two other warships bombarded Algercias, started several waterfront fires and set fire to the rebel submarine base.

The Dato, anchored in the harbor, appeared to be sinking. After the battle the Jaime Primo, flagship of the Loyalist fleet, was seen pumping out large quantities of water and was believed to have been hit.

Algercias is the base at which rebels have landed troops from Morocco. Contrary to usual practice, rebel airplanes made no effort to bomb the warships.

After the engagement the Jaime Primo continued to cruise the coast, pouring an occasional heavy salvo into Algercias or vicinity.

At noon the Dato was blazing furiously from stern to stern near the Algercias. The Jaime Primo ceased firing after it had been attacked ineffectively by machine guns from a rebel airplane.

The fire caused a heavy explosion on the Dato which blew up the forepart and the bridge. The vessel was regarded as a total loss.

PLAN ATTACK ON BALERIAN ISLANDS
MADRID, Aug. 7.—(UP)—The government is dispatching an expeditionary force to take the Balearic islands off the east coast from the rebels. It was officially announced today.

Eleven bombing seaplanes, three submarines, two destroyers, a converted transatlantic liner and 14,700 men will take part. With the fleet will go 2,500 bombs and 100 machine guns. Four wireless units will maintain contact among the forces.

The object of the expedition is to gain possession of a great ammunition depot near Palma, on Mallorca island, and a large oil refinery.

Thirty-five hundred men will be embarked for the islands today or tomorrow, it was announced: 1,500 men from Barcelona are waiting the fleet at Valencia, and the National Labor Confederation is forming a supporting column of 10,000 or more militiamen.

As the rebel threat to Madrid continued, anger mounted among the left wing elements against foreign aid. The newspaper Claridad charged that rebel airplanes were landing and provisioning at Amaraia, Portugal.

Arrest 140 Monks
It was announced that Jose Martinez Valasco, former foreign minister, was arrested and taken to the Madrid model prison. The socialist mayor of Escorial sent to police headquarters here 140 Augustinian monks, it was announced, and police will search the monastery today. The monks arrived here in civilian clothes.

President Manuel Azana signed a decree suspending Jose Roca, Spanish consul general at New York.

The Agrarian Reform Institute sent agents into five provinces in a 25,000 square mile area about Madrid to seize right wing farms and resume operations on them.

All high officers of the police department were dismissed by presidential decree and replaced with officials known to be loyal.

Darken City
Last night, as practice against a possible air raid in future, there was an almost complete black-out of lights throughout the city. At 10 sharp nearly every light went out and Madrid seemed like an uninhabited place. All householders lowered shutters to keep lights from showing. Restaurants and cafes lowered their lights to the minimum possible without leaving their patrons in darkness. Street lights were kept lighted.

The government assured the people by radio that the black-out was merely a test and that a rebel raid on the city was not expected.

ORANGE COUNTY MAY JOIN MWD

the district, but it is proposed that all of Orange county join the MWD.

Discuss Methods
At the joint meeting, an attempt will be made to establish the best method to pursue for Orange county to join the MWD, whether it would be better for the entire county to go in as a unit, excluding the three member-cities, or divide the county territory outside the three cities into several districts.

Should the entire county come in, it was announced some time ago by Colonel Finley, a $10,000,000 aqueduct would be constructed through the mountains above Black Star canyon in Orange county. The entire MWD would help share the cost of this huge engineering work.

The two speakers who will address the joint meeting will be asked a prescribed set of questions, designed to illuminate the local situation. These questions are as follows:

1. What would be the cost of the aqueduct water delivered in Orange county?

2. Can water be purchased by districts not members of the Metropolitan Water District?

3. How much longer will districts have to join the Metropolitan Water District?

4. Can Orange county join the Metropolitan Water District as a single unit, excluding the three member-cities, and not increase the obligation on these three cities?

5. Would the taking of a membership by the Orange County Water District secure all the water needed?

6. If irrigated county lands outside the member cities are organized into a district, each joining as a new unit, how many such units should there be?

7. What precautions should be taken to prevent small districts from remaining out of the Metropolitan Water District and continuing to pump from the water supply remaining as member districts ceased to pump?

8. Would public discussion of a Metropolitan Water District at this time conflict with the federal government's plan to build flood control dams?

PORTLAND, Aug. 7.—Portland's Beavers shouldered their way into first place in the Pacific Coast league standings, ousting Seattle by the margin of a fractional percentage point.

The Portlanders' drive into league leadership climaxed a month's campaign during which they have mowed down opposition consistently and advanced steadily through the first division.

Today's percentage totals give Portland .5496 and Seattle, in second place, .5488.

The Beavers gained their final momentum from a 2-1 victory over the Missions in a ten-inning encounter. Seattle helped its North-west rivals into the top spot by losing its third straight verdict to San Diego, 5-3. The game went 11 innings.

BEARDSLEE IS WINNER THIRD STRAIGHT DAY

With a fifteen-mile wind whipping the waters of the ocean and bay into white caps, the entire fleet of approximately 150 large and small yachts tried to start in the third day of the Southern California Yachting Association's championship regatta. Not all of the fleet of starters finished as sails and masts went by the board due to the strong wind, while other boats, particularly those sailing inside bay courses, were capsized. It was a fine day for the heavy weather craft and true to form they turned in wins in the majority of cases.

This was the last day of competition for the M and N class yachts as well as the P and Q and X and Y classes. All of the rest of the various classes sailing both inside and outside courses still have two more days of competition.

Though the big M class sloop "Patolla," owned by the Mitchell-Wyman combination of Santa Barbara was not on the course, having gone to her home port, it is doubtful if she would have beaten Commodore Douglas' "Endymion" in yesterday's race as many consider the heavy weather to be entirely to "Endymion's" liking. By winning the 23 1-2 mile race "Endymion" won the championship for her class with a total score of 11 1-2 points. Second to finish was "Sea Hawk."

For the third straight time young Bill Slater sailed his six-metre "Lanal" to win the race for third in the series as "Patolla" had collected 7 1-4 points before being sailed north to the Channel City, Dr. D. W. Cady's "Malabar VII" experienced difficulty and finished the race last, her performance during the 3-race series earning her 5 points and last position in her class.

With the mast of his famous "BY-C" pending until the spectators thought it would snap at any moment, "Hook" Beardslee again won the Star class event, the third straight win he has checked up. Bill Baxter sailed his "Pollux II" into second race position with young Steve Royce taking third place with his "Trade Wind."

Incidentally, Steve said he would voluntarily go overboard if he placed third or better in yesterday's weather and he made good his promise immediately upon receiving his finishing gun. With two more races to be sailed "BY-C" leads the fleet of 27 contenders with 31 3-4 points, Art Macraes' "Zoa" second with 75 points and Frank Lippman's "Pat Riot" with 71 points. Had young Lippman been able to get out of the jam he found himself in at the weather mark, when everyone seemed to be taking full advantage of the starboard tack rule while he was on the port tack, he would probably finished much better than he did, being in sixth place. That extreme winds can take their toll in canvas and spars is shown by the fact that seven of the Star fleet starting failed to finish.

Fifteen mile winds seemed to be entirely to the liking of George Jessop's Pacific Class sloop, "Wings" for she romped home to win the 8 1-2 mile triangular course event. The Giddings-owned "Windy" placed second with Joe Jessop's "NININIE," winner of the two previous races getting the third gun. With two more races to sail the series now stands "NININIE," 25 1-2, "Wings," 21 1-4, "Scamp" (Kettenburg) 20.

Warner Calles took advantage of the weather and sailed his 22 square metre "Ortie" to win yesterday's race, "Catherine II" owned by Raymond Paige but with her owner not at the tiller, finished second.

Inside the bay nine different classes of "half-pint" yachts were buffeted about by the winds and chop with many of them capsizing and retiring from the competition. In the Snowbird class Beek's "Seymour" led the fleet across the finish line with Frank Marshall's "Billie Boy" second and Chapman's "Ho Hum" third. Guy McKibbin's "Wa Wa" which has ruled the class was disqualified, forcing her out of the rough going.

The winners of the other small boat classes follows:
Skimmer, "Curlew," Bothell; Starlet, "Skeezix," Heller; Rain-bow-Skimmerette, "Dam It," Adams; Snipe, "Shady Lady," Sch-wanner; 13' Restricted, "Mine," Callis; 16' Restricted, "Bejabbers," Bobbitt; 20' Restricted, "Mad Monk," Buttes; Inter-Coubs Dinghies, "Uncanny," McClure.

A fair idea of the toll taken by the heavy winds today can be gotten from the fact that nearly 20 per cent of the small boats either failed to finish or failed to start today's event.

The power cruisers held the first race of a three-race series yesterday with the other two to be run today and Saturday. Using the predicted log method of competition, Wesley Smith's "Sea Dog" won the event with a total error of only eight minutes, 18 seconds for the entire 21.36 mile course. Commodore Wallaz Eaton's "Susan A." checked in at the eight separate control points with an error of 11 minutes, 45 seconds while George Buzzza's express cruiser "Arrow" covered the triangular course with a total error of 17 minutes, 26 seconds.

MOSQUITOES TO BE ELIMINATED BY DREDGING

Continuance of the dredging work in Newport Harbor area by the Irvine company will result in elimination of one of the worst breeding spots for mosquitoes in the southern area of the county, it was announced today by C. Roy Brown, Irvine engineer.

The breeding place for mosquitoes which will be eliminated through dredging out a swamp is located between Harbor Island and the state highway, it was announced. Dredging work now has been resumed after having been halted for some time.

In line with other improvements being made in the bay section by the Irvine company, preparations are being made today to build a new boat mooring. This mooring will be leased. It will be located east of Balboa Island on the mainland.

The new boat mooring will cost around $6000 and is the third of the number of units planned. Two already have been constructed and have proven successful, it was announced. One is located just northeast of Lido Isle and another just below the state highway bridge on the channel of the upper bay.

And so the used car salesman didn't make the sale after all. That is what Mrs. Vera Fox, Route 4, Box 315, Santa Ana, indicated yesterday afternoon when she complained to city police the salesman pinched her as she stepped out of a car which she had made up her mind to purchase.

Whereupon, according to reports, Mrs. Fox "unmade" up her mind and refused to buy the car. Assistant Chief Harry Fink accompanied Mrs. Fox to the used car lot to interview the salesman, who declared he had not pinched Mrs. Fox as she stepped from the car but had only brushed against her as he walked by. Mrs. Fox said she would not sign a complaint against the salesman at the present time.

Budding playwrights of Orange county have been reminded of the annual one-act playwriting contest of Santa Ana Community Players' association, and the fact that September 1 will be the opening date of the contest.

Although Harry Hanson, association president, has not made his appointments of the committee to receive these original manuscripts, entrants have been informed that they may leave manuscripts at the Shaffer Music store or with Mrs. R. Carson Smith, 1115 West Washington avenue. Mrs. Smith was chairman of last year's committee and was accorded high praise for the manner in which she conducted the contest.

There will be little if any change in rules governing the contest. It is emphasized that all plays must be entirely original, and that adaptations of short stories by other authors will not be considered. Plays may not be shorter than 15 minutes' playing time, nor longer than 35 minutes.

The early date of September 1 has been named for opening the contest in order to allow ample time to playwrights to work out their ideas before the first of the year when the contest closes. The plays selected by judges yet to be appointed, will in due course of time, provide a full evening's program of original one-acts for the association members and friends.

CONDUCT STUDY OF SEA WATER AS GERMICIDE

LA JOLLA, Cal. (UP)—The ocean is not only a powerful antiseptic, but is the biggest and perhaps the best germ killer in the world, according to the latest discoveries of Claude E. Zobell, of the staff of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography.

Zobell's report on his findings is now being studied by the Society for Experimental Biology and Medicine in an effort to ascertain just what it is in sea water that gives it its antiseptic qualities. He has demonstrated that bacteria of a public health interest cannot survive long in sea water. On the other hand, it has been found that marine bacteria have a certain chance of survival.

Among the various deductions that have been made as to the possible antiseptic qualities of sea water is the presence of predaceous protozoa, a possible lack of nutrients or the lethal effect of sunlight.

One thing Zobell declares to be certain, is that there is something in sea water besides its salts which has a potent bactericidal effect.

Experiments already made have demonstrated that raw sea water has a greater health potency from its bactericidal aspect than either the heated or filtered water.

Synthetic sea water also was tested, with the result that it showed less bactericidal potency than natural ocean water.

Officials of the institute are confident that it will be possible eventually to identify the specific antiseptic element of sea water and possibly extract it for commercial or sanitary purposes.

News Behind The News

By Paul Mallon

FIFTY-FIFTY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—A lot of people have been wondering and talking about what President Roosevelt's reform attitude may be if he is re-elected.

A competent White House spokesman here, who knows as much about it as anyone, which is probably not much, has this interesting view:

For the next two years, the president's main problem would be to put the country on a firmer basis, by reducing expenditures and making better progress toward balancing the budget. If business continues to improve and he succeeds in getting his financial affairs into line in the first half of his second term, then he might be expected to devote the second half to developing some of his further reform theories.

By that time, the complexion of the supreme court may have been altered by a higher court.

Note—The outcome of the congressional election will be a determining factor in the president's course. If the election is close, the Republicans will gain important house strength regardless of whether their candidate wins.

FORESIGHT

Chairman Jim Farley has been seen going in and out of the top advertising agencies in New York lately—and presumably not on campaign business.

In the trade, they say the super political salesman is looking for a personal post-election business connection in advertising, whether Mr. Roosevelt wins or loses. There is some talk that he might establish an agency himself. He has contacts which should enable him to pick up some good accounts, although he could not qualify as a copy writer unless he took Charley Michelson with him.

In that business or any other, as many political committees as he wants. If he returns to the postmaster generalship, it will mean only $12,000 a year, which is hardly enough to keep the wolf from the footman.

CONTACTS

Murmurs of disapproval are heard in some eminent Republican quarters because Chairman John Hamilton has gone off on a three-week barnstorming trip of one-night stands and left headquarters to run itself.

Old-time politicians are unaccustomed to such a display of personal zeal on the part of a party chairman. Some of them are rhetorically asking who is running for president, while others are supposed to have carried mild counter-suggestions right up to the door of his office. They did not get anywhere.

Hamilton told these cautious advisers that the prospects of success rested largely with the party organization, and the organization rested with the county chairmen. He wanted to meet every county chairman in the country before the campaign was over.

Also, he told them about one county chairman in a central city of great political importance, not off the beaten path, who had never seen the chairman of the national committee in the twelve years he had been in office.

PROMOTION

War appears to be just around the next corner when staid England considers an appropriation to give every citizen a gas mask, but appearances are sometimes deceptive.

Certain authorities here became interested when they saw pictures in the roto sections. They became aroused when they noted new items about a bill just introduced in parliament to provide each Englishman with similar protection.

What they found, on inside investigation, however, is that these dramatizations were probably inspired by purposes other than immediate protection. The British government is carrying a tremendously increased budget for the navy and army. There is no more realistic way to make the average taxpayer appreciate the necessities of national defense than to talk about giving him a gas mask.

Note—Warfare experts say the idea of a gas mask for each citizen is somewhat silly anyway, as no gas has yet been discovered which could be used effectively against large masses of the population. Existing aerial gases spread too fast and deteriorate too fast to be of any important use against whole cities or towns.

Mr. and Mrs. Zine Crane have as their house guest, Miss Maude Leonard, Bloomington, Ill., and Monday the three formed a fishing party aboard the Huntington Beach barge. Returning that evening to Huntington Beach the party joined Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Whitaker and family for an out-door dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kettler and daughter, Miss Mary Kettler, returned Tuesday from their cabin at Lake Arrowhead.

Mrs. Z. D. Crane and guest, Miss Maude Leonard, in company with Miss Leonard's three sisters, Miss Pearl Leonard and Miss Gertrude Leonard, of Long Beach, and Miss Ada Leonard, of Los Angeles, spent Tuesday on a motor trip to Laguna Beach, where they attended the art festival and had dinner at the Hotel Laguna.

GOVERNMENT SEEKS TO CONDUCT QUERY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—(UP)—The Securities and Exchange Commission today asserted its power to investigate the $6,000,000,000 Investment Trust Empire in a brief filed with District of Columbia supreme court attacking an injunction suit seeking to halt its inquiry.

The SEC brief was in answer to the attempt by Frederick T. Fisher, Equity Corp. stockholder, to block the investigation through a test suit seeking to halt use of equity's private documents and private equity officials from testifying in the inquiry.

In replying commission counsel asserted the present investigation "is a valid exercise of the investigational powers of congress in aid of legislation."

Fisher, who is a son of Walter L. Fisher, secretary of the Interior under President Taft, owns only two shares in Equity. At the present market price these are worth about $2.75.

Bill Hynds Not Fond Of Horses Today

Wm. R. (Bill) Hynds, clerk in Santa Ana justice court, had a hurt feeling today after a session of horse-back riding and "unridding" at Laguna Beach last night. The hurt feeling included diverse portions of Hynds' anatomical make-up.

As the story goes, Mr. and Mrs. Hynds, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fernandez and Mr. and Mrs. Minor Cox went to Los Amigos Riding club last night in Aliso canyon. Hynds, arrangements-maker, learned there were six horses left in the stables and one of them liked to shy at shadows and things. Anything, nearly. Hynds likes riding and didn't until today—mind shying horses. His horse shied all the way up and down Aliso canyon and wound up with a climatic shy at the end of the journey, when a playful horse suddenly dashed up to greet the party. It really broke Hynds' journey but he's recuperating nicely today.

At the climax, Hynds' horse shied right out from under him. "He may belong to the Los Amigos stables, but he's no friend of mine," Hynds reported. Fernandez fared much better. He only got lost from the party for a couple of hours, or so.

LOCAL WRITER SIGNS LONG CONTRACT WITH MOVIE FIRM

By ELEANOR ELLIOTT

From pulps to slicks to movies.

Such has been the literary progress of a well known Santa Ana writer, Allan Vaughan Elston, 2121 North Flower street, who in the one more week at his command at present before resuming his duties with the Republic Studios, Hollywood, is completing a novelette for Argosy, dean of all the pulp magazines.

Many Santa Anans are aware of Elston's work with motion pictures, and some are aware that several of his stories have been purchased by various Hollywood companies. But it will be news to them that he has the distinction of being the only Hollywood writer who has been granted a contract providing that he be given time to continue his own fiction work. This fact was brought out in a recent issue of the Hollywood Reporter, a magazine devoted entirely to news and happenings of the studios.

His five-year contract, with its steadily increasing salary scale, is so arranged as to alternate a 12-week period with the Hollywood studio, with an eight-week period of creative writing in his home. It is one of these latter eight-week intervals that is now drawing to a conclusion.

Another item in a recent issue of the Reporter, was headed "The Mutineer to WB" and continued with a pertinent paragraph, "Allan Vaughan Elston's South Sea mystery yarn, 'The Mutineer,' has been bought by Warner Brothers. The Adams agency set the sale."

This will be of special interest to the author's friends here, who were aware that the story had been purchased recently by the Cosmopolitan, in which Elston is appearing with increasing frequency. "The Mutineer" has not yet appeared in magazine form, but will probably be in an early autumn issue. In the meantime, Warner Brothers saw in it a vehicle for Errol Flynn, star of "Captain Blood."

Republic Studios have purchased other magazine stories of his, including "Corpus Delicti," which also appeared in the Cosmopolitan. To those unfamiliar with the intricate working of the studios, it will no doubt be a surprise to learn that the author himself has nothing to do with the adaptation of "Corpus Delicti" to the screen. For others of the staff of some 45 writers will make this necessary adaptation, while Elston works on the stories of other authors. His first duty with the Republic Studios was preparing the film version of "The Broadcasting Mystery," and also "Army Girl," a story appearing in Red Book from the pen of Major Charles Clifford of the U. S. cavalry troops, and will appear at an early date.

Quite as entertaining to a listener as Elston's accounts of his studio experience, which have including associations with Marian Talley, famous singer, who is now fulfilling a $25,000 contract with Republic Studios for a musical picture, are his tales of magazine experiences.

The most recent was in regard to the novelette which he is now completing for Argosy, to which he has sold more than half a hundred stories. His literary agent in New York notified him of a request from the Argosy editor, for a novelette to take the place of one whose author failed to produce the goods for an early fall number. The colored cover page of the magazine was completed, picturing a man, a girl and a dog in a scene of the far north, supposedly illustrating the novelette which failed to appear. In the emergency the editor asked Elston to write the novelette with a northern setting which could make the cover page appropriate. This is the work he must complete before Monday, August 17 when he will return to his post with the Republic Studios.

It is familiar to all friends of the Elston family that Allan Vaughan Elston achieved his first success in writing for the so-called "pulp" before he gained recognition from the higher class magazines. But in recent years he has been making quite as great a success in the field of the "slicks," with his stories appearing regularly in Colliers, the American, the Cosmopolitan and others.

He and Mrs. Elston and their three children have definitely decided upon Santa Ana as "home," and recently completed a delightful home on North Flower street. Elston has identified himself with the civic life here, and is active in Kiwanis club.

SANTA ANA DRUM CORPS TO DRILL IN BOWL SUNDAY

Preparing plans for entering the American Legion drum corps competition at the state convention, Hollywood, on Monday, the 50 members of the drum corps of Santa Ana Post 131 of the American Legion will hold final drill at Municipal Bowl beginning at 9 a.m. Sunday, according to announcement of Eddie Couron, leader of the local group, today. The public is invited to attend the final rehearsal Sunday. "We have arranged an entirely new program of music to feature western cowboy songs," Couron said. "I think we have such a splendid organization that we will be able to defeat the state and national champions from San Gabriel Monday. The first prize winner is granted $3750 for use in returning to the national convention of the American Legion at Cleveland, beginning September 23. Second prize winner receives $700."

Police News

Accused of failing to attend National Guard camp near San Luis Obispo several weeks ago and of failing to attend drills, Fred Carter, 20, 812 West Second, Santa Ana, was booked at county jail last night by Second Lieutenant Earl McAndrews. He was convicted at a court martial proceedings and sent to jail for 15 days. Robert M. Holt, 18, 1005 South Main, began serving a similar sentence on a similar charge, Tuesday, after conviction.

John K. Cox, 22, 810 East Second, Santa Ana, arrested on a charge of drunk driving, and convicted, began serving 68½ days in county jail today. He was brought in by Chief W. W. Williams of Brea. He had the alternative of a $187 fine.

William Velarde, asserted Los Angeles county union leader and Communist, whose influence here recently was blamed for holding up settlement of the citrus strike for a week, was reported seen at Corona Mexican camp this week, according to investigating deputies of the sheriff's office. Witnesses said Velarde conducted a "pep meeting" in a further effort to obtain a following among Orange county Mexicans.

Rosa Robles, 42, 1813 West Fourth street, Santa Ana, was re-booked at county jail today, and held on authority of Parole Officer J. E. Lewis of San Francisco, who charges Robles with violation of a parole from San Quentin. On July 14, according to records, Robles was jailed for 50

HOPALONG CASSIDY IN FILM AT STATE

Another of the popular and exciting Hopalong Cassidy stories is the feature attraction at the State theater today and tomorrow. It is "The Call of the Prairie," with William Boyd as Hoppy and Jimmy Ellison as his young friend, Johnny Nelson. The cast also includes Muriel Evans and Chester Conklin. The dramatic action story contains many thrills and is set on the Bar 20 ranch.

Other entertainment on the program includes a news reel; a comedy, a cartoon and a chapter of "The Adventures of Rex and Rinty."

Ice cream treats will be provided for all members of the Kiddies club attending the regular session at 1 p. m. tomorrow.

FOGS CHARTED TO SAFEGUARD OCEAN AIR LINE

MONTREAL, Aug. 7. —(UP)—Canadian, British and Newfoundland aviation authorities are pursuing a "safety first" policy in preparing for the first North Atlantic air mail service across Newfoundland and Canada to Montreal.

Fog is the great enemy in the Newfoundland area, and the British Air Ministry, Canadian and Newfoundland authorities, and Imperial Airways are all cooperating in the preliminary work of studying atmospheric conditions over the mouth of the St. Lawrence River and on the coast and inland districts of Newfoundland.

Study Begun in 1934

Pilots and meteorologists have been stationed in Newfoundland since the autumn of 1934, investigating conditions in the upper atmosphere. Although ground data were available, there was no adequate information on upper-air movements such as will be required for the e. perimental British-to-Canada flights by Imperial Airways long-range flying boats and the composite craft in which a long-range seaplane will be launched in midair from the wing of a flying boat.

A Canadian government meteorologist is in charge of upper air observations over the St. Lawrence and two Imperial Airways pilots are flying the planes from which observations are made. The pilots are Capt. D. C. Fraser and C. S. Kent.

The Newfoundland authorities have established 21 fog-reporting stations, inland and coastal. Observations from these stations indicate that while difficult flying conditions persist around St. John's, there is a central area which might be described as fog-free. A spot in this zone may be chosen as the Newfoundland airport for the Atlantic route from England to Montreal.

Fliers Know Locality

Fraser, a native of Newfoundland, flew extensively there before joining Imperial Airways. His colleague, Kent, has had long experience of commercial aviation dating from the early days of the Continental services from Britain. He has also had experience of ground organization. He has had plenty of opportunity of studying the route to Montreal.

Canadians are awaiting with interest the forthcoming trial flights on the North Atlantic service. In addition to work on the eastern section, the ground organization is being prepared for the Trans-Canada railway, which after mails from Britain have reached Montreal, will carry them by day-and-night service to Winnipeg and Vancouver. A further link in the air-mail chain will be from Montreal to New York.

Shirley Temple's British Rival

Already a star in her own right, 7-year-old Deidre Gale Broughton is nearing Hollywood to vie with Shirley Temple, Jane Withers and other cinema prodigies for American fame. Deidre is seen emulating grownup stars on arrival at New York from her native England.

AIRLINE LINKS CITY TO SUMMER CAMPS

NEW YORK, Aug. 7. —(UP)—Children vacationing in the White Mountains formerly saw their New York fathers once or twice during the entire summer. But now a week end air service makes parents more regular visitors.

"Summer widowers" in past years could visit summer camps by taking a 10-hour train ride by way of Boston. Now planes operated by the Hampton Air Service take off from New York at 4 P. M. on Fridays and get them to North Conway, N. H., by supper time.

Quentin Cudney and Richard Gately, the two pilots, enjoy the mountain holiday, too. They play until 9 A. M. Monday. Then they start the return trip, arriving in New York by 11 A. M.

The air service was started from the Holme Airport after the Southampton, L. I., line had proved its popularity. Business men fly back and forth from there daily, leaving Southampton at 8 A. M. and getting to town at 8:40 A. M.

BREA

BREA, Aug. 7. — City Attorney Elmer Guy, Mrs. Guy and their little daughter, Carol, have left for a six weeks' visit with Mrs. Guy's mother and other relatives in Helena, Mont. Returning they will visit in Sacramento with the families of Mr. Guy's two brothers.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Critchlow, Donald and Patsy, left Wednesday for Hayward, where they will visit for a week with Mrs. Critchlow's sister, Mrs. George Pendergast, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Zerbe and son, James Zerbe, are en route to Rifle, Colo., where they will visit for two weeks with Mrs. Zerbe's mother and two sisters.

Word has been received from Mrs. O. S. Close that she arrived safely at Sioux Falls, S. D., in company with a cousin and his family from Anaheim. Mrs. Close made the trip at this time because of the serious illness of her aged father. She expects to be away about six weeks. During her absence Mr. and Mrs. Bob Close are in the home caring for their aged grandmother.

Mrs. John Gnagy has gone by train to Chicago, where she will visit at the home of a cousin. Shortly after her arrival there Mrs. Gnagy will take delivery on a new car and in company with this cousin will drive to Philadelphia and Washington, D. C. Returning to Chicago she will visit with other relatives and be joined by Mr. Gnagy about September 15 for the return trip home.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Russell are improving their home at 124 South Orange street by enlarging a bedroom at the southeast corner.

SYSTEM URGED IN PLANNING FAMILY DINNER

"Build your dinner about the meat course." That is one of the best systems you can follow to solve the very perplexing problems of meal planning. Whether for the family dinner or for a dinner party, this method works equally well. Vegetables, a salad, dessert, beverage—these are much more easily selected when you have decided what your main dish is to be.

A whole baked ham is a delicious and a very satisfying "piece de resistance" for any occasion, special or everyday. It's good news to learn that there is a ham now on the market which requires a minimum of preparation. In fact, you can place this new tender-made ham (medium size) in a hot oven for approximately one hour, and take it out all ready to be served at your dinner hot and tender.

Inch-Thick Steak Cooks in 12 Minutes

A steak from this new kind of ham can be ready in 12 minutes from the time you place it in the hot oven—and a tender, thick steak it is, too! It's especially delicious if fruit juice has been poured over it while it was being heated.

The shank or butts of this ham may be purchased to cook with vegetables, or for use in salads, in stuffed peppers, in tomatoes, or in a meat loaf.

Here is a festive main dish for your company dinner, too: Place a whole tender-made ham in the oven, fat side up, in an uncovered roasting pan. When it has heated for approximately 45 minutes, remove it from the oven and score the fat in diamonds. Then stick with whole cloves. Moisten brown sugar with fat drippings and rub on the ham. Return to the oven for about 15 minutes longer. Then

Edward VIII Plans Sea Cruise

decorate it with Queen Anne cherries stuck on with toothpicks and garnish with parsley.

The use of fruit juices and of fruit to enhance the flavor of meat is a culinary custom which is growing in popularity. The delicious mild flavor of a new tender-made ham now on the market is especially tempting with an accompaniment of fruit. This ham comes from the market all ready to serve, and many are the ways in which clever homemakers are using it.

Ham steak, which will be sizzling hot and ready for the table after 12 minutes in the oven, is more delicious than ever if it has been heated in fruit juice. Thin slices of this ham may be heated in the broiling oven with sliced bananas or rings of pineapple. The whole ham (medium size), which requires only an hour in a hot oven to be heated thoroughly, is truly a regal dish when garnished with cherries or when served with an accompaniment of preserved peach halves, apricots, or pineapple slices.

SAILOR FOILS ATTEMPTS TO HOLD HIM UP

Two men, believed to have been attempting a robbery when they jumped on the running board of a car operated about 4 a. m. today by J. W. Putnam, of the Eleventh Naval District headquarters, San Diego, were sought by police and sheriff's officers.

Putnam said he drove up to a boulevard-stop sign on Seventeenth street, at an intersection he believed was either Tustin or Grand avenues, and stopped. The men jumped on the running board, he told officers, and tried to over-power him but he struck both of them, knocking them from the vehicle. Then he stepped on the accelerator and sped from the scene.

On request of the sheriff's office, City Officers W. B. Moreland and Ralph Pantuso investigated the case and searched the neighborhood for the would-be robbers, but they had fled.

Berlin's percentage of police is 2.4 per thousand of population, while that of England is 5.05, and France, 2.15.

TOASTMASTERS HOLD MEETING ON THURSDAY

Through subjects assigned without previous notice, and an impromptu debate allowed Toastmasters Malcolm Macruda to show to El Camino Toastmasters club, meeting last evening at the Doris Kathryn cafe on North Main street, the progress which members had made in speaking. Though no vote was taken as to which speaker had acquired the most fluency, the club decided that satisfactory improvement was being made.

W. H. "Ted" Blanding spoke against the referendum measure which will appear on the ballot in November which would require chain stores to pay a progressively increasing tax. William Gray took the opposite position. Blanding contended that the chain store was a benefit to small-salaried persons, a point which Gray denied. That both chain stores and independent stores with buying affiliations purchase in large quantities was agreed. It is proposed that the same topic be made a formal debate for an early meeting.

E. M. "Sunny" Sundquist, just returned from a trip to the east coast and Canada, told of things he saw while away. Carl Sanborn gave an insight into the practice of banks and the methods used in handling checks. Fred McCandless, speaking without previous preparation, gave his formula or definition of the characteristics of a successful man.

Critics were Glenn Tidball for Sundquist, Roy Coleman for Sanborn, Dale Griggs for McCandless, Nelson Dose for Gray, and T. D. "Ted" MacBird for Blanding, with Ernest S. Wooster as general critic.

MacBird, McCandless, Tidball, Blanding and Wooster expect to attend the convention of the Toastmasters International to be held in Santa Barbara August 15.

MAYTAG WASHERS SHIPPED TO COAST

Word was received today from the Maytag company of Newton, Iowa, by its local representative, John W. Jesse, of the Electric Appliance company, Second and Broadway, that more Maytag washers were being produced today than anytime in the history of the corporation. A full train load of Maytag washers was shipped to the coast in May and another complete train load will be shipped this month. At the present time, the factory has more than 18,000 unfilled orders on hand, which has necessitated them working 24 hours a day.

TOWNSEND CLUBS

Club No. 12 will stage a potluck supper at Santa Ana Gardens club-house Monday evening at 7 o'clock. Women will bring a covered dish and table service, and the men will pay a small amount for their meal. Women were asked to bring small articles for a "fish pond," which will aid in raising the defense fund quota. Entertaining music was promised those attending.

Larimer May Ruin 'Coates' Night' Critics Say Lovelock Can Beat Own Record

Tonight's Games

Orange at Santa Ana Westminster at Anaheim Olive at Huntington Beach.

This is to be the night of nights for Jim Coates, but the Santa Ana mound ace may have to ditch his arm off and his heart out to make the occasion comfortable.

The Stars are meeting Orange at the Municipal Bowl, and what looked like an ordinary ball game when the Coates benefit was arranged two weeks ago has developed into a contest of near-championship significance.

Coates' ridge rival will be Roger Larimer, the hottest number in the ten-year history of the National Night Ball league.

There have been better sub-mariners than Larimer but none in the circuit has matched his record of scoreless innings. Not a run has been made off the ravenous youngster in the past 34 innings as "Memphie" Hill's spirited Cubs have roared up from nowhere and passed Huntington Beach to make a belated challenge for the second-half championship.

If Larimer should beat Coates the Orangemen will be in the thick of the pennant race, as Jim sets down "upstarts" as he has everybody else the banner will be as good as flying in Santa Ana.

The conflict is a "natural" and promises to bring out a crowd mindful of the old Santa Ana.

Hodgson Signs With Oilers, Hurls Tonight

Desperate for better pitching, the Huntington Beach Oilers today signed Ray Hodgson, the champion leine (Orange County league) club for the rest of the National league season.

Hodgson is scheduled to hurl for Huntington Beach against Olive at Huntington Beach tonight.

The Oilers have had a tough time winning since Louie Neva took a furlough to Lindsay. Although in third place, they won three of their five games by a single run.

Russ Coggan, second string gunner, has been ineffective.

helm series for Orange has gone 8-2 over its win-crazy kids. Larimer hasn't been scored on in 34 innings; Coates hasn't allowed a run in 19. And they are pitching for the two top teams, both eyeing first place. The last time they tangled Coates won, 1-0.

Coates' ceremonies will be brief but inspiring. Mayor Fred Rowland, Commissioner Horace Snow and Manager George Lackaye will escort the popular pitcher to home plate where Mayor Rowland will present Coates with a substantial gift, a voluntary tribute from Santa Ana fans and civic organizations.

Both Managers Lackaye and Hill said they would keep their lineups intact. Santa Ana being at full strength again with the return of Outfielder Tom Denney.

"Bono" Kora will be back of the lat. He had "his night" at Westminster Tuesday, belting a homer, two doubles and a single. Coats, Preble, Smith and Young will man the infield; Denney, Ballard and Rebohn the gardens.

Orange has "Nelly" Struck receiving, Larry Leichtfuss on first base, Ted Walker at second, Tom Lacy on third and Walt Leichtfuss at short, with "Whitney" Pea, Walt Gunther and "Bris" Richardson in the outfield.

Game-time is 8:15. Coates contributions may be made at the door, officials announced.

Smallwood Under Knife For Appendicitis, Misses '400'

BERLIN, Aug. 7.—(UP)—Harold Smallwood of Ventura, Cal., a member of the United States Olympic team who suffered an appendicitis attack this morning, underwent an operation today.

Smallwood qualified for the Olympic 400-meter semi-finals yesterday but had to be withdrawn from the event which passed the semi and final rounds today.

Smallwood was first stricken with appendicitis while en route here on the liner Manhattan but the attack subsided after he had spent some days in bed with ice packs on his side. He seemed to have recovered.

Smallwood was operated upon at 1:45 p. m. (8:45 a. m. EDT) by the director of the West End hospital, Dr. Ulrich Niepert. The decision to operate was made suddenly.

A nurse attending the athlete said that Smallwood was doing well.

Although he finished second in the quarter-final yesterday the rangy Californian had been given a good chance to win through to the finals and his elimination was a blow to the hopes of the United States for a 1-2-3 showing.

JAPAN, HOLLAND FAVORITES IN OLYMPIC POOL

BERLIN, Aug. 7.—The Olympic swimming pool today was full of the world's best swimmers preparing for tomorrow's opening events of Olympic competition.

The competition, according to most experts, is going to be keen with Japan, defending champion, enjoying a slight edge in the men's events and Holland conceding an even chance to break American supremacy in women's swimming.

Behind him when he broke the tape in world record time, vainly trying to match the power in his slim, girlish legs, were such barrel-chested powerhouses as Glenn Cunningham of the United States, Luigi Becali of Italy, Archie San Romani of the United States, Phil Edwards of Canada and seven others.

"You were pretty hot today, weren't you?" said the American reporter.

Lovelock grinned.

"I was a bit wound up, wasn't I," he answered, "and perhaps it's well that I was for that was a pretty brisk bit of business out there, wasn't it?"

"Don't you think you could have run faster, Jack?" someone asked.

Le Mon Drubs Hughes; C. Y. O. Champ Next

Having given George Hughes a bit and then waded in and knocked decisive beating last night at the Orange County Athletic club, Le Mon will meet Johnny O'Terrence, state C. Y. O. heavyweight champion next Thursday night, Promoter Bob Singleton announced today.

The fight was a typical LeMon-Hughes barroom brawl which had a big crowd of fans howling every minute. It was the third time the well-matched pair had met, but in the "rubber" LeMon was master of the situation practically all the time, with the exception of the first part of the opening stanza when Hughes battered LeMon to the ropes twice.

In the second frame they stood toe to toe, slinging lefts and rights. LeMon took a hard one on the eye, and it started to close. Then he came back and staggered the Negro, landed an uppercut and the Negro hung on. LeMon used a short right uppercut to good advantage in the third and Hughes was groggy. LeMon took the decision after a battering fourth.

RESUME WORK ON WELL NEAR FIVE POINTS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 7.—Drilling work has been resumed on the Five Points Oil company's well on Talbot road near Huntington Beach highway. The well is located a mile east of the Twentieth Century well, a producing prospect.

The Shell Oil company has suspended operations on its Anaheim Sugar company No. 1 wildcat project at the corner of Atlanta street and Bushard road. A watchman is in charge of the well while the well is being worked to Bakersfield to do a rush job there. No announcement has been made as to when operations will be resumed. The well is said to have ceased operations at a depth of about 4000 feet. Some oil sand was cored between 3300 and 3700, but it was streaked with sand and shale.

The Morton well being drilled by the West American Oil company at Smetzer road and Huntington Beach highway between Oceanview and Midway city is drilling ahead below 3200. The company, it is said, will drill below 9000 feet in an effort to develop a deep sand.

One of the most interesting wells in the field is Dan Dunlap's redrill job on the old Copeland on Delaware avenue near York town on the Danby estate tract. A cement job was recently completed in the well. The well is said by the scouts to look good and to be a sure producer. It is in the heart of the east side production area in the old field here. ### BEGIN HERE TODAY

ANN HAMILTON, pretty young secretary in a large business office, goes to a travel agency to make plans for her two-week vacation.

BILL WARE, travel bureau employee, persuades her to go to Lake Racine. Bill is obviously attracted by Ann, but she gives him little thought.

Ann goes to the mountain resort and at first is lonely. Then she meets RALPH SPURGEON, a handsome, well-to-do man who is not interested in girls. Ralph introduces her to JAIME LAIRD, a very pretty, blonde, and very attentive. Ann tries to persuade him to do something with his life but he laughs at this. She also meets LEFTY FONDS, married but attractive. On her way to go swimming with Lefty, Ann is surprised to meet Bill Ware.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VIII

ANN went to the steak room with Bill Ware and Lefty Ponds. Aimee, the hostess, in her amiable way cornered Bill and made him help with the fire. It was a task he enjoyed. There had been six years since he had last experienced the clear tang of the north woods. After so long in a city office, the kindling of a flame under the stars with pine sticks was an incredible adventure.

Ann watched him closely as he attended to the fire. The tired lines under his eyes seemed somehow to have been erased. In the reddish glow his white face was like that of a blond Viking, looking over a brazier of coals on the prow of a ship.

He had dressed for the part of the fire-finder. He wore an old gray flannel shirt and dungarees. His feet were encased in a species of ancient sandal. In front of the flames his open throat was like a rugged collar.

It was a revelation to Ann. The office worker had vanished, and William Ware had become a romantic personage in his own right, like that Viking she imagined. When he rolled up his sleeves she saw well-developed muscles in his arms. Evidently he kept fit in the city.

At intervals Ann saw Bill's eyes following the languid young bond salesman who had somehow monopolized her for this evening. She remembered Bill's hurt look when he had first seen her with another man at the hotel. But Bill hadn't had a chance to talk with her alone.

HE got his chance when Ann walked down to the sandy beach to rub sand in the skillet and clean it—this being regarded as a feminine job. Bill caught up with her, as she dipped her hands into the sands.

"Let me do that," he said, his eyes shining with the glint of the moonlight on the water.

A moment later, busily scouring the vessel with sand, he turned and said, "Who is that guy you're with? I mean—what is he?"

"I think he sells bonds, or something of the sort," she said.

"Oh!"

"He used to play football at Princeton. That is, before he was married."

"I used to box at college. It was a small middle-western school. But you say he's married?" Bill faced her with large, hurt eyes.

Ann laughed. "Don't be shocked. And don't look so indignant."

"But—but he's married!" Bill murmured incredulously. He continued, his eyes still wide, "But you don't go out with him? Not dates?"

Something in Ann rebelled. Perhaps Bill, in his gray flannel shirt and dungarees, seemed a bit callow beside the breezy Lefty Ponds. She said, "What gives you the right to be shocked at anything I do? I don't seem to recall—"

"Oh, I'm sorry!" Something of his hurt was revealed in his face.

HE turned to the skillet again and, silent, scoured it to shining radiance. Ann got up and went back to the fire, and joined Lefty Ponds.

Lefty asked, "Who is the boy friend with whom you've been exchanging confidential words?"

"Oh, just a boy I met in the travel office back in the city," she said. "He sold me this vacation. He thinks he goes with it."

Lefty was a little indignant. "Well, he had cheek, I must say! He talked as though he had known you a million years."

"I think he means well," Ann said. "And I don't think he's had much time for the amenities—the little things he should know about courtship and girls."

"Well, tell him not to practice on you," Lefty said hotly. "This was to be my evening with you. Let's leave this crowd and go on some place else."

"No, No," Ann said. "I couldn't do that. That would be selfish. This is the hotel party. We have to be loyal."

Lefty tossed a stone into the fire. "Just as you say," he told her. "Can't we take a stroll down the lake shore and then come back?"

Ann eyed him with a knowing smile. "You think a lot of yourself, don't you?" she said. But she smiled when she said it. "I have no doubt that you are attractive to a lot of women. You are ruthless."

Lefty laughed. "Not when my wife is around! But don't get a rise out of me. I'll stick around. I like you. I like your reserve. And please, don't be so exclusive!"

AFTER Lefty had gone to his room, Ann stood on the veranda and watched the moonlight on the water. Lefty had asked them to go to a night club but for some inexplicable reason she didn't want to go. She knew Bill Ware couldn't afford such things, and she didn't want to embarrass him.

Bill had gone to the boathouse dock to talk to Ralph Spring, the boatman. He wanted to hire a canoe for two weeks.

Bill came up the path as Ann was ready to go upstairs. His voice detained her. "Don't go in, please!" he said.

"I'm sorry—about tonight," Ann said.

"Oh, I'm sorry!" he amended. "Perhaps it was selfish of me. I make breaks all the time—with girls. I guess it's the old work-a-day harness chafing me. But I'll get free of it for two weeks." He squared his shoulders, and again she looked at the startling white throat.

"You are going to enjoy this mountain air," she said. "Do you like to climb?"

"Will you?" he said eagerly. "I mean—will you climb a mountain with me? I've just rented a canoe for the two weeks, and I intend to go in for everything. Get it for the old grind again. Feel like a man. How about tomorrow?"

"I'm sorry. I promised to go sailing on St. Regis Lake with a boy. It'll take all day."

"With that married man?" Bill asked hotly. "With Lefty—?"

She smiled. "No, not with Lefty. His name is Jaime Laird."

"Oh, that lad!" Bill said, and his spirits fell. "I talked to him—at the office. Playboy. I sold him this vacation." He laughed, a little ruefully. "Now I wish I had sent him to the seashore. But look here—He realized his bluntness had taken her away from him again, that his presumption had repelled her. "It is selfish of me, I guess. Perhaps every man is selfish about the girl he loves."

Ann looked up at him, her face troubled. He was gazing at her as if he expected her to vanish in the air and be forever lost to him.

"But, Bill, I didn't know—"

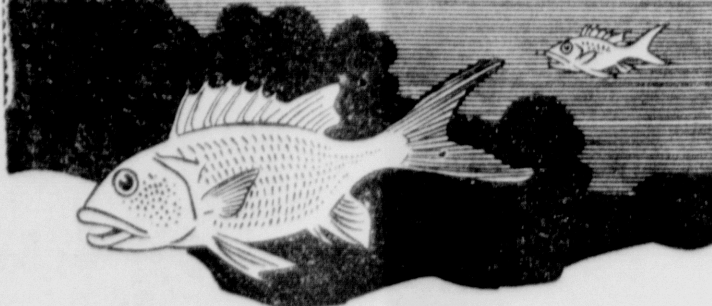

There was nothing she could say. She hadn't dreamed this boy regarded her in such a light. They had met so casually in the travel office. He was just another boy in the workaday canyons of the city.

"Perhaps I'd better listen to you some more," Ann went on, regaining her poise. "How about climbing a mountain—the day after tomorrow?" she said.

"Sold!" Bill replied, in his business manner.

AMERICANS knew only too well what the potato beetle could do to German potato production. The insect never tasted a potato until 1859. Now it does untold damage to potato crops from one end of the country to the other. It did make an appearance in Germany just before the war, but quick work exterminated it.

319TH ENGINEERS TO HOLD REUNION

Plans for the third annual reunion of 319th regiment, engineers, scheduled to be held at the Hollywood Athletic club tomorrow at 8 p.m., were received today by Charles Van Wyk, prominent Orange county rancher. Van Wyk is one of the few men in Orange county who was a member of the 319th.

The reception committee will be headed by Harold Clayton, and Col. C. W. Otwell will act as presiding officer at the reunion. Others who will participate in the program include Harry Defty, Bill Ooley, Max Amsterdam and Bill Wall. John Ross of headquarters detachment is flying to Hollywood from Helena, Montana, and former members from all over the country are making arrangements to attend the affair, Van Wyk said.

All of the trophies won by the regiment will be on display, as well as the pictures and drawings which adorned the wall of the hut in Brest. Those who plan to attend the reunion are urged to bring any old war photos in their possession to the reunion.

METEOR'S FALL DESCRIBED

SAINT JOHN, N. B. (UP)—Fall of a huge meteor into the Atlantic Ocean near Harbor-de-Lute, Campobello Island, was reported here by Alonzo Conley, Deer Island lighthouse-keeper. Alonzo said the meteor fell into 30 or 40 feet of water and "steamed and hissed like a cauldron of boiling water."

Jimmy Fidler in HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, August 7.—High time someone showers glory on the Motion Picture Relief Fund, Hollywood's ablest charity. On a radio program I once called it "The Hearbeat of Hollywood" and the title still goes. Last year the Fund expended $170,000 in the care of destitute screen actors. Five thousand persons were directly or indirectly benefitted, many to the extent of hospital or doctor bills that ran into hundreds of dollars. Rent, food, clothing, public utilities, medical and dental attentions; down-and-outers need no more than ask, and dozens of once famous stars now eat and have roofs over their heads thanks to The Fund. The film industry supports this cause. Hundreds of executives, directors, stars and lesser players contribute one-half of one per cent of their earnings. When Will Rogers died, The Fund lost its most generous member, because in addition to his apportioned share Will regularly contributed extra sums. Mae West ranks next to Will as a generous giver. On the contrary, there are quite a few high-salaried stars who donate nothing. I would like nothing better than to reveal their names, so you might join in my disdain for them, but officials of The Fund placed me on my honor, and I cannot talk.

Barton McLane, who has supplanted George Bancroft as the "big tough screen fella," worked in cages with lions and tigers for his latest picture. After completion of the movie, he received this telegram from the producer: "When I saw you caged with seven lions I didn't waste time writing because I thought you would not be around long. Now that you have finished and are still alive, I am writing to express my appreciation of the chances you took. They add greatly to the picture's interest. But privately, I think you were a sucker!"

Grace hint (poise in walking): Draw a chalk line the length of the living room floor. Balance a brimful glass of water on each palm and walk the line twenty times daily for one month. You will become a graceful, poised walker. This system was first used by Earl Carroll to train young girls for his stage "Vanities," and now is employed by dancing and talent instructors in the studios.

On the subject of grace and dancers, here is interesting news

A NEW NAME A NEW SERVICE

★ SANTA FE TRAILWAYS, formerly Santa Fe Trail System, in coordination with Santa Fe Ry., offers not only a new name, but a new service that is more than just bus transportation. Roomy, lavatory equipped buses; Harvey Hotel rest stops; fast schedules; three full Harvey meals as low as $1 a day; low fares everywhere. Chicago for example, $29.50.

from Busby Berkeley, screen dance director. Berkeley says there are six thousand chorines striving for movie breaks, but less than eight per cent will succeed. The remainder lack anything from real ability to personality, or perhaps they sleep too much. At any rate, Berkeley recently interviewed 2,300 chorus aspirants to find 165 suitable for his new screen musical. I suppose ambitious young people do not read paragraphs like this, or else they choose not to believe, for Central Casting Bureau reports that hundreds of newcomers seek to register weekly, and are turned down.

MORMON TABERNACLE ATTRACTS

SALT LAKE CITY, (UP)—Tourist trade is counted a major industry in Salt Lake City, with 1,785 out-of-state cars and 5,355 tourists visiting the city each day, according to a recent estimate. More than 1,800 persons registered at the Mormon tabernacle on an average day and officials say that only about half the visitors register.

Chess is played in every country on earth.

AUSTRALIA ADDS TO AIR DEFENSE

CANBERRA (UP)—Australia is getting increasingly air-minded both for commercial and defensive purposes.

A survey of civil aviation, just made by the Minister of Defense, reveals that Australia now has 411 government controlled aerodromes, 225 commercial pilots and 262 civil airplanes available for defensive purposes.

There are now operating 17,000 miles of regular air routes, with a total annual air mileage of 3,150,000 miles.

The next step in the development of the Australian commercial aviation system is to be the installation of modern developments in night illumination of aerodromes to permit fast night air services between the leading capitals of the commonwealth.

The immediate work to be carried out includes construction of nine new aerodromes between Brisbane, Sidney and Melbourne.

Air terminals will have radios for two-way communications. At present aviation is developing so rapidly that a shortage of pilots is threatened.

As a further indication of the intense activity in aviation, the registration of Australian National Airways has brought to finality Australia's biggest commercial air merger. The new company is composed of the former Holyman's Airways, Melbourne, and the Adelaide Airways.

With Holyman's are associated the Union Steamship Company, of New Zealand, and Huddart, Parker, Ltd., and with the Adelaide Airways the Adelaide Steamship Company and the Orient Steam Navigation Company. The new company will co-ordinate an inter-capital service of high speed machines with eventual extensions to New Guinea and New Zealand.

Drive Started To Organize Landon-Knox Forces

G. O. P. CENTRAL GROUP IN MEET HERE THURSDAY

Plans for a thorough organization of the Landon and Knox forces in the county were discussed last night at a meeting of the county Republican Central committee held in the offices of Committee Secretary Milburn G. Harvey, 312 North Main street. The plans tentatively outlined last night will be further developed and determined at a meeting with the directors of the Republican Assembly, the date to be announced later. The committee last night advocated organization not only of community clubs, but also of numerous neighborhood clubs in all the larger cities of the county.

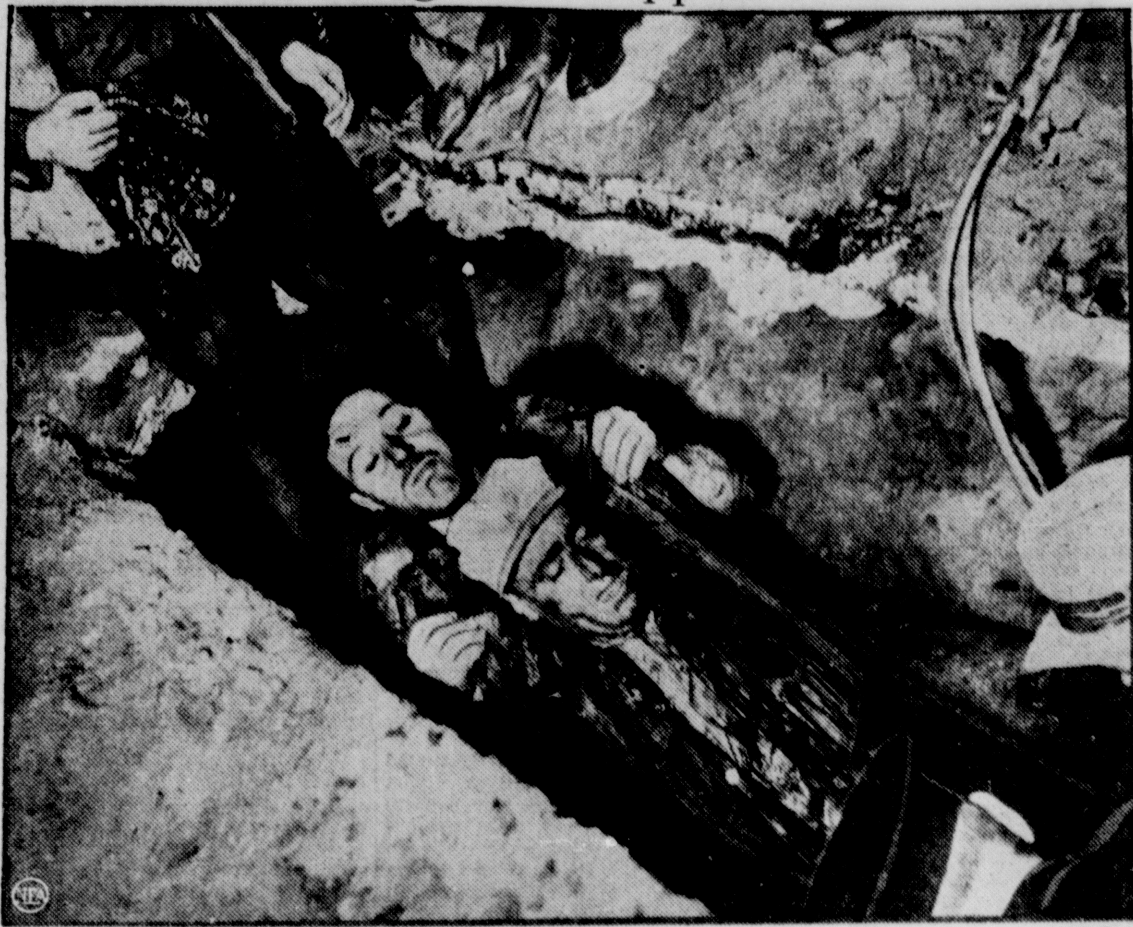

Howard Irwin, chairman of the committee, last night announced that plans for the coming barbecue-rally, scheduled for August 22 at Irvine Park, were well underway. He has communicated with national campaign officials and expects to have a speaker of national importance present at the affair.

The rally is intended by the committee to be the means of raising sufficient funds to finance the entire campaign in the county. Tickets are to be sold for $5 each. One of the features of the rally will be the introduction of Republican candidates for nomination. The barbecue dinner will be served at 1 p. m. under the direction of a committee headed by Richard Haster of Garden Grove.

Dr. W. E. Dixon, Santa Ana, selected weeks ago to handle the Landon-Knox headquarters in Santa Ana, announced that offices will be soon opened. Women throughout the county will be invited to become actively connected with the Landon headquarters. Dr. Dixon announced. This announcement followed a statement by Ted Kuchel of Anaheim to the effect that women are more interested in the present campaign than in any campaign in recent years.

TRUCK DERAILS LOCOMOTIVE
GILROY, Cal. (UP)—Stanley Robinson, 22, with an ordinary sized truck, succeeded in derailing a giant Southern Pacific switch engine. It was an accident, but Robinson had the satisfaction of seeing a wrecking crew work for hours in order to open up the highway so that small four-wheeled rivals could continue on their way.

Stark Drama Caught in Trapped Worker Rescue

An alert photographer caught the drama in this unusual picture of the rescue of Walter Lynch, trapped by rushing water in a 20-inch water main in San Francisco. Lynch was in the pipe when a ditch digging machine broke off a plug, allowing water to enter. An acetylene torch cut a hole to the victim and when Lynch was able to reach his arms around the neck of a fellow workman, the rescue was effected.

AIR CONDITIONING FIRM ESTABLISHED

Pioneering a new business in Southern California, J. Ross McClure, special representative of Johns-Manville, home insulation division, today established offices in Santa Ana. He has opened his headquarters in room 212, Builders Exchange building.

McClure, who has moved to Santa Ana with his wife and children, has a territory extending from Long Beach to San Diego and throughout all of Orange county. In the near future, McClure expects to take on a staff of men to assist him in his work.

Type A blown insulation, a product of Johns-Manville company, is new to the Pacific coast, McClure said. It was found quite successful in eastern states, and was first introduced on the Pacific coast in April. The material is used in insulating residences and other types of structure against cold and heat.

CHAMP CHECKER PAIR GETS NEW PLAYER TO BE AIR DEVOTEE HERE THURSDAY THROUGH JOKE

Checkers played in championship style will be on exhibition at the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. next Thursday evening, when William F. Ryan, of New York city, comes to meet local enthusiasts.

Ryan, known popularly as "The Bronx Comet," is editor of the "King Row Review," national magazine of the North American Checker association, and is the author of a book, "Scientific Checkers Made Easy." He is the winner of many honors as a contestant with the world's greatest players.

His visit in Santa Ana on next Thursday evening at 7:30 at the Y. M. C. A. will bring an unusual opportunity for local fans to observe the style of play followed by a champion. He will play all comers simultaneously, and following the simultaneous play he will take on all who have won or drawn games against him and will play them blindfolded. He offers to present a copy of his book to the player who wins a game against him during the evening.

Secretary Smedley of the Y. M. C. A. announced today that the exhibition will be held in the Y gymnasium, and that table accommodations will be provided for 40 players if there are that many who wish to play the champion. He suggests that advance reservations for places at the tables are advisable.

Except for the small fee to cover the cost of the exhibition the event will be open to all who are interested. Both men and women will be welcome and an evening of unusual interest to all checker players is promised.

OLD EXTORTION PLOT RECALLED IN CRIME YARN

Memories of an extortion plot which puzzled Orange county authorities several years ago and which resulted in Robert Lufbery of Long Beach being sentenced to San Quentin prison were revived today in publication of an article titled, "The Case of the Cement Covered Box," in the September issue of True Detective magazine.

The article, written by James S. Bouldin, chief of police of Anaheim, and Floyd McCracken, Anaheim newspaper man, is illustrated with pictures of Frank Baum, Anaheim realty man; his daughter, Verena; Chief Bouldin; Z. B. West Jr., then district attorney of Orange county; Sam Collins, then deputy district attorney; Lufbery, the Huntington Beach pier, the Baum home and other pictures.

The case involved attempts of Lufbery to extort money from Baum, C. C. Chapman, Fullerton capitalist, and others. Among the officers named as participating in the investigation were Sam Jerinigan, then sheriff, and Robert Sandon, district attorney's investigator.

FRUIT EXCHANGE SHOWS GAIN IN ACREAGE IN YEAR CLOSED

Net gain to the California Fruit Growers Exchange of 7,400 acres during the year ended May 31, 1936, was reported today by F. F. Heydenfeldt, growers service manager. This included the affiliation of four shippers which had previously marketed through outside agencies. McKellips Mutual Citrus Growers Inc., Mesa, Arizona, Rialto Fruit Company and Rialto Orange Company, of Rialto, and Sunny Hills Citrus Association, Fullerton.

Within the exchange membership five new associations were organized during the year—Culbertson Lemon Association, Saticoy; Goleta Lemon Association, Goleta; Mesa Citrus Growers, Mesa, Arizona; Associated Anaheim Growers, Anaheim; and Marcy Ranch Packing House, Tuslain.

Definite progress in developing a method of determining granulation in dried or frosted oranges and blossom end decline in lemons, and eliminating the affected fruit without cutting wastage, was reported by H. J. Ramsey, field manager, who, with Research Manager W. E. Baer, recently made a thorough examination of equipment under development for this purpose.

Mr. Ramsey, who has just returned from a trip to the East, had visited a number of markets where citrus fruit is sold at auction and found consumers satisfied with the eating quality and juice content of Valencia's although the appearance was not always all that could be desired due to wind scarring. Packs generally were satisfactory and Sun-kist, as usual, was held in high regard. For this period of the year, lemons showed less decay and less alternaria than for many years and were giving excellent consumer satisfaction.

Increased supplies of deciduous fruit and cooler weather were given as factors largely responsible for a slower movement of Valencia's. In New York alone, 1000 cars of deciduous fruit and melons were unloaded last week. Prices on Valencia's were slightly lower than for the preceding week but above the level of a month ago. The interstate prorate this week was reduced to 1200 cars for all shippers.

On lemons, exchange storage was said to be 1824 cars below the storage at the same time last year and approximately 27 per cent below the average August 1st storage during the past five years. Cooler weather had its effect on lemons also, resulting in a lower market and lighter sales. The f. o. b. average on Exchange sales during the past week, however, was above that of the comparable week last year and higher than during any of the comparable weeks for the past five years.

have been constructed to control the formation of gullies. In this area, 481 acres of woodland planting has been completed outside of gullies, and 163 acres of woodland planting has been completed to stop gully erosion.

SAN CLEMENTE MAN GRANTED NOVEL PATENT

Three new ideas won a patent today for Edward Pomeranz, of San Clemente, on a rubber "ice skull," for use by barbers. The San Clemente inventor has not assigned his patent for manufacture or exploitation.

The official patent office description of the invention followed: "In a device of the class described, the combination of a smooth uninterrupted head inclosing inner unit, an outer unit spaced from said inner unit, the two units being connected at their edges, said outer unit provided with means for securing the same at intervals to said inner unit, whereby communicating side and center chambers are formed, and means for permitting filling of said chambers."

Two Birthdays Observed With Evening Party

Each August, bringing the joint birthday anniversary of Dr. Hubert B. Nall and William J. Stauffer, close neighbors on North Ross street, is a signal for Mrs. Nall and Mrs. Stauffer to plan some gay observance of the occasion.

Wednesday night they entertained at bridge, issuing informal invitations to a little group of friends to meet with them in the Nall home, 2021 North Ross street. Contract play was progressing and everyone agreed that it was appropriate that Dr. Nall should be prize winner among the men, for his high score. Mrs. E. T. McFadden held similar score and received another prize.

There were all manner of birthday packages for the two men, but perhaps none was more appreciated than the signed checks which they received for the payment of "three hundred and sixty-five happy days." Further birthday wishes were embodied in the delectable ice cream cake of the refreshment course, for it was inscribed with their names and suitable greetings.

In the party with Mr. and Mrs. Stauffer and Dr. and Mrs. Nall were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rag-uer, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. McFadden, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Dand-ger.

Mid-Summer Party Series Launched In Huffman Home

Because Dr. and Mrs. Harry G. Huffman and their small daughters, Betty Ann and Harriet LaRue, center all their summer interests in the secluded garden of their home at 2340 Riverside Drive, it is natural that Mrs. Huffman should stage her mid-summer entertaining in the same delightful spot, a true outdoor living room.

This week, Mrs. Huffman instituted a series of parties by calling together groups of friends for luncheon on two successive days, Wednesday and Thursday. She and Dr. Huffman will add some equally informal dinner parties to the list before their departure about the middle of August for Catalina Island. Mrs. Huffman and her little daughters will be on the island during the remainder of the month, to be joined at week-ends by Dr. Huffman. Of special importance will be the observance of Betty Ann's birthday anniversary on August 23.

Yesterday's Luncheon
Yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Huffman invited a little group of friends to bring their knitting, crocheting or needlework, lunch with her, and discuss their vacation plans, past or to come. Her sister, Mrs. W. Maddox Clegg of Huntington Beach, and her next-door neighbor, Mrs. Walter Gerken, were liberal with their gifts of flowers to enhance the beauty of the tree-shaded garden. Zinnias glowed like jewels against the greenery, and the luncheon table, arranged near the splashing fountain, was starred with phlox.

Lively conversation veered from experiences in Jamaica, the Canal Zone and many distant places, recounted by Mrs. Roy Langley, recently returned from a voyage which she and Mr. Langley took to New York City with motor trip home, to advance fall fashion hints by Mrs. Mortimer Plum, who writes daily of such affairs for Los Angeles papers.

In the guest group were Mrs. Langley, Mrs. Plum, Mrs. E. D. Holmes Jr., Mrs. Horace J. Howard, Mrs. Anton Seegerstrom, Mrs. Robert Fernandez and Mrs. Milo K. Tedstrom.

Bridge On Wednesday
For Wednesday's opening party, Mrs. Huffman observed the same decorative effect, and grouped her luncheon tables near the fountain, although the garden has a special dining room effect at the fountain, where an electric grill, sandstone floor and swaying lights make a delightful place for alfresco dining.

There was the same vacation motif prevailing, as hostess and guests exchanged greetings and place cards observed this theme with their views of the California Redwoods, old Missions, or other places of equal interest to those on outings bent. When guests finally turned their attention to bridge, similar score cards were used, and Mrs. W. H. Wright made high score, with Mrs. Henry Williams second. Their rewards were attractive accessories for the feminine traveler.

For this bridge luncheon, Mrs. Huffman received Mesdames Harold Nelson, Henry S. Williams, Paul Eagan, Arthur May, Edgar Elstrom, E. T. McFadden, Harry Westover, William H. Wright, John Backus, Charles Swanner, Dexter Ball, Loyal K. King, Kenneth Sutherland, Robert Mize, John Swanke and Harry Le Bard.

The party gave several days each to the Yosemite, Mount Lassen, Crater Lake and Lakeview, Ore., and spent a week with friends in Walla Walla, Wash. They toured the White Salmon river country, and while in Washington, visited various mills and the Tillamook cheese factory, then returned southward by the coast route.

Mother And Daughter Are Hostesses At Gift Shower

Pleasantly complimenting Mrs. Jack H. Reed, 1017 East Chestnut street, was an evening party of recent date, at which Mrs. E. D. Rose and her daughter, Miss Dorothy Rose, entertained in their home near Orange.

Soon after arrival of the guests, the hostesses distributed special sewing among them, and a busy interval followed in the flower-decked parlor. When the small garments were all completed they were presented to Mrs. Reed for the layette she is preparing. Games were then introduced while the hostesses prepared prettily appointed trays for the serving of ices, cake and coffee, observing the pink and blue motif in all appointments. Favors were the small booties in pink and blue, which held nuts and sweetmeats.

Before the enjoyable evening came to a close, Mrs. Reed was escorted to the dining room. The table, garlanded with flowers, was centered with an infant's bathtub in pink enamel, wreathed with rose petals. This was the gift to Mrs. Reed of close relatives, and was filled with layette gifts from the party guests.

Post-Nuptial Shower
In Tustin Honors
Mrs. Boosey

Mrs. Rena Bouchard's home in Tustin was setting for a shower of pretty appointments Wednesday evening when her daughter, Mrs. Leell Boosey (Winifred Bouchard) was honored at a post-nuptial event. The bride's sister, Miss Emily Bouchard, and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Betty Boosey were hostesses.

Games were played during the early part of the evening. The group adjourned to the patio for a pleasant interval during which refreshments were served.

Bright-hued balloons were broken to reveal slips of paper bearing directions for the bride, who was sent on a treasure hunt for a lovely array of miscellaneous gifts.

Sharing the affair with Mrs. Boosey and her mother, Mrs. Bouchard were the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Henry Boosey and Mesdames Helen Johnson, Muriel Dawson, Herbert Allen and the Misses Lois May Stockton, Katherine McDermott, Marjorie Schooley, Marjorie Rawlings, Jane Hill, Mary Knoche, Hazel Whitehead, Betty Seeley, Barbara Kisor, Barbara McCarter, all of this community; Mrs. Kenneth Shopshire, Laguna Beach, and the two hostesses.

THE WEEKLY PANTRY SHELF

Uncle Sam paid France about $15,000,000 for nearly 1,000,000 square miles of land, when he acquired the Louisiana Territory. The Virgin Islands cost him $25,000,000, and the area of the 50 islands totals only 133 square miles.

GOOD GARDENING

By Mrs. H. Cardoza Sloan, Corona Del Mar

Being sound advice and interesting comment on what to plant and how to care for Orange County gardens.

GARDEN NOTES

Do you recall some weeks back we had a letter from a column reader who mentioned that she grew peonies? As it is generally supposed peonies cannot be grown successfully in our Southern California climate, I thought it would be of interest, especially to those who hold these plants dear in memory, to know just how Mrs. F. does it. I quote from a letter recently received from her.

"You asked about my method and results with peonies. I've grown them for fifteen years but have very little advice to offer. Very deep preparation of the soil, adding bone-meal, lime, and some sulphur perhaps, before planting. And most important of all, giving them filtered sunshine from the time they come through the surface in early spring until after they have bloomed. A very little hot sunshine will burn the buds and spoil the blooms.

While the plants are in bloom I'm wildly enthusiastic and am always going to increase my number of plants and then the rest of the year I wonder if it is worth while to raise them at all. They are a marvelous burst of bloom but the season is so short. My most prolific plant bears always more than three dozen and has given me more than fifty blooms in a year, which is more than one would ask from a rose plant, and with considerably less care than a rose requires, but the rose scatters them through the year, while the peony gives its bloom all at once." Will you let me know when the peonies are in bloom next spring, Mrs. F.? I shall drop every duty, no matter how pressing, and come to see them—if you will invite me.

Our correspondent also mentions growing sweet peas as a "pillar plant," the idea being suggested to her by a sturdy little volunteer sweet pea plant which she couldn't bear to pull up (you know how that is), so set a dahlia stake for it to climb on and it gave her sweet peas for the house all winter. I tried that in my own garden some years back, only I planted the peas, pink ones. They are charming grown in this way. Plenty of time to try it for this winter if you want to.

Encouraged by her success with the lone sweet pea, next year Mrs. F. planted sweet peas—in July—three to a stake, in her dahlia bed. The dahlias kept the ground shaded and moist for the little plants to start, and they grew so luxuriantly she had to stretch strings along the stakes. Mrs. F. leaves her dahlias in the ground two years before taking them up to divide, and she was somewhat worried about watering and fertilizing the sweet peas injuring the dormant tubers, but evidently no harm was done. Her dahlias were quite large plants before she finally pulled out the sweet peas.

In connection with the sweet peas, Mrs. F. mentions a very clever arrangement for a sweet pea rack shown in the fall catalogue of a California seedsmen. Probably many of you have seen it. Dahlia stakes in the ground, clothes hangers nailed firmly to the stakes, one at the top, another a few inches from the bottom of the stake, straight sides toward each other, and the stakes set close enough together to make a continuous rack as long as one wants. Strings can then be tied to the straight edges of the hangers. It struck me as a very attractive and practical idea as pictured in the catalogue, not only for sweet peas, but for any light vines.

FOR FRAGRANCE. One of the most deliciously fragrant of garden flowers is the Nicotiana. A nondescript plant in the day time, with thin, straggling branches and closed flowers, when darkness falls it becomes a thing of enchantment. The whole plant seems to be filled with a crisp freshness, the blossoms open to lovely white flaring trumpets gleaming through the dusk, and all the air around is filled with a delightfully spicy fragrance.

Because of its lack of daytime beauty, do not plant the Nicotiana in a conspicuous place, but by all means have some tucked away in some corner of the garden. Nicotiana affinis, the type most grown, is perennial but with us is best grown as an annual, and as it self sows easily it is a simple matter to keep new plants coming along.

KEEP CUT FLOWERS FRESH. Cut flowers are most delightful decorations in the home—but not unless they are fresh and well cared for. A bouquet in which part of the flowers are wilted or "gone by," and where one has a horrible suspicion that the water in the container may be green and slimy, is anything but pleasing to a fastidious person.

Wash your containers carefully after every using, changing the water daily during the life of a bouquet, and carefully remove any faded flowers and stems. If you can move the flowers to a cool, airy place at night, it will help to keep them fresh. If the flowers are in a shallow container and you wish to prolong their life, it will help to take them out at night and put them in a dish where the stems may be deeply immersed in water.

When making up an arrangement, an excellent way to be sure that your flowers start off with sufficient moisture is to cut them under water. As soon as the flowers are cut, a sucking reaction occurs in the stem. If there is no water, it sucks up air, and air bubbles may

"I'M NO EXPERT on vitamins, mineral salts, carbohydrates and proteins—but I do know crisp, delicious shredded wheat supplies just the right combination to keep me fit and alert."

interfere with absorption of water. By cutting the stems under water, the pores are filled with water at the start and by a continuous changing of water daily, flowers will last longer and be more beautiful while. (By cutting under water, we refer to the cutting of the stems when making the arrangement, of course, and not when cutting from the garden plants! It is a grand idea, however, to carry a bucket of water along to the garden when gathering flowers and slip them into the water the minute they are cut.)

FALL FLOWER SHOW. Perhaps you haven't begun to think about fall flower shows, but those who have been planning and working for their success.

This year we are to have an Orange County Fall Flower Show, the date to be sometime in mid-September, the 11th, 12th, and 13th, I believe. It is sponsored by the Garden Clubs of Orange County.

Mrs. J. E. Paul, with a committee of efficient and enthusiastic flower lovers, being in charge. It is hoped to make this show representative of the best in Orange County gardens, and it should receive the willing co-operation of all gardeners. So begin grooming your best plants and coaxing along your finest flowers, to display at our Orange County Fall Flower Show. Further details will be mentioned from time to time in our column.

GREEN FINGERS. "Oh, he (or she) has green thumbs!" Haven't you heard people say that about someone who is successful with plants? Sometimes they say "green fingers."

I used to think this meant that the Almighty had bestowed on some fortunate persons a "green thumb", the greenness invisible to mortal eyes but in some miraculous way endowing its possessor with a special understanding and skill in the care of plant life.

Now I know that the sequence is not, first, a "green thumb," and second, a successful garden, but just the reverse. First, diligent and persistent garden labor, then, the green thumb. In other words, a green thumb is the effect, rather than the cause.

The green thumb is not bestowed by an indulgent Providence, but is acquired by the patient performance of many humble garden tasks in which—fingers—and thumbs (which were made before trowels, snips, and such-like garden tools) take the place of these implements.

A dead leaf or flower to be plucked, a branch to be broken? Snip them off with thumb and finger. Slugs around the flower pots? Pick the nasty things off—with thumb and finger. Aphids on the tender rose shoots? Before even we start for the spray gun, finish off all the aphids in sight by gently squashing them between thumb and finger. A slip to put down? Poke it into the soil with a convenient finger. Plants to be potted up? Nothing like the thumbs for pressing down the loose soil.

Nightly, as I earnestly strive, with the aid of hot water and soap, brushes and lemon, pumice stone and bleaches, to restore my digits to their pristine lily-whiteness, I meditate upon this subject. Yea, verily, I think, with mingled satisfaction and regret, wiggling my thumb briskly around in the cut half of a lemon, both figuratively and physically I have "green fingers."

Health Protection FOR CHILDREN'S LAUNDRY!

MOTHERS will confirm the extreme importance of hygienic cleanliness for baby's comfort and health. This means that frocks, nighties, diapers, bibs, sheets and cotton crib covers must be sanitary. In laundering white cottons and linens a mild Clorox solution bleaches, banishes ordinary stains, odorizes and disinfects in one easy, economical operation. A slightly stronger Clorox solution takes out stubborn stains such as ink, fruit, flower, grass, beverage, medicine, blood—even scorch and mildew.

Clorox also disinfects, deodorizes and removes stains from refrigerators, food containers, drainboards, sinks, bathtubs, basins, toilet bowls, tile, linoleum, sickroom utensils and garbage receptacles.

You'll be amazed to learn the number of ways that Clorox can help you. The label lists many important household and personal uses. Clorox is concentrated for economy. Always order by name. There's only one Clorox.

Quantity Buying Saves
Time and Money

DELICIOUS MEALS, perfectly cooked and attractively served, are a splendid investment in family welfare. We should be careful, when food prices go up, that we do not reduce the abundance of quality, or lower the quality of the food we serve at everyday meals. Good food and plenty of it, develops the health and efficiency of each member of the family to the maximum. In families where the food allowance is adequate, it will be found that doctor bills and hospital bills are correspondingly low. It's good buying to buy plenty of good food.

Careful planning of meals and making it necessary to make a limited food budget over adequate meals when prices are rising. Use your refrigerator to store high priced items, so you'll have a supply of food at one time when prices are low, and storing the perishable items in your refrigerator, thus all of the money preparatory work for the week's cooking is done.

A saving each week of a few cents in the cost of food, amounts up into dollars saved at the end of a month. Purchasing reasonably large quantities of vegetables at one time saves both money and time because you immediately prepare all of them for cooking, before storing them in your refrigerator; thus all of the money preparatory work for the week's cooking is done.

Your electric refrigerator requires very little assistance from you in caring for your food supply. You need help in only two ways: By keeping it clean and by properly preparing and arranging the food supply in the refrigerator. Here are a few suggestions that I am sure will be very helpful in using your electric refrigerator:

FRESH FRUITS—Put in uncovered wire basket; any location is satisfactory. Bananas and lemons should not be stored in a refrigerator. Fresh pineapple must be wrapped in waxed paper. Fresh berries should be washed, sweetened and stored in covered dish. Any location in the refrigerator is satisfactory.

MEATS—Unwrap meat as soon as it comes from the market; scrape or wipe off any visible dirt and remove the waxed paper. Never wash meat until just before cooking as it draws out the juices and causes spoilage.

FISH—Remove any paper wrapping, wipe, cover with waxed paper and place in the cooler tray. The fish skin is likely to be absorbed by other foods so extra care should be taken with fish.

LEFTOVERS—Cream, milk, sauce, prepared butter, cheese should be stored in covered dishes on the upper shelf of the refrigerator.

Meal preparation is easier and requires less time when all supplies are on hand in a well-stocked refrigerator. For example, each of the following menus can be prepared in less than thirty minutes:

BROILED LAMB CHOPS
Paprika Potatoes    Buttered Spinach
Raw Carrot Salad
Strawberry Shortcake

BROILED HALIBUT STEAK
Buttered Asparagus
Creamed New Potatoes
Fruit Salad    Chocolate Pudding

CORNEBEEF (Canned)
and CABBAGE

(carrots, turnips, onions)
Assorted Relishes
Sliced Oranges with Coconut
Cookies

SCIENCE ADVISES AGAINST MEALS LOW IN NEEDED "BULK"

Reports ALL-BRAN Supplies This Dietary Adjunct

Scientific tests have shown that meals which miss the proper "bulk" tend to cause common constipation. This condition causes discomfort, and may lead to headaches, loss of appetite, even serious disease.

Avoid these faulty meals by adding Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to your menu. It supplies generous "bulk" in convenient form. This absorbent moisture, and gently exercises and cleanses the system. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B and contains iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is often more effective than that found in fruits and vegetables as it does not break down within the body. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, consult your doctor.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN may be served as a cereal with milk or cream. Sprinkle over soups, salads or other cereals. Or work into appetizing muffins, breads, waffles, etc. It adds a delicious nut-sweet flavor to your recipes.

How much better than taking patent medicines—sometimes harmful! ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Brain Twizzlers

By Prof. J. D. Flint

1. An inheritance problem has come up. We bet you can't solve it. At best it will give you difficulty.

2. A wealthy descendant of European nobility had in his possession a piece of heavy cloth. It is pictured above. The design was fixed upon the cloth in precious stones and metals in addition to being rich in the symbols and sentiment of the family. When the owner died, his will contained instructions that each of his four children was to have a section of the cloth, the four pieces to be of equal size, same shape, and bearing each of the two kinds of figures without cutting any part of any of the figures on the cloth.

3. How can the cloth be cut to meet the requirements?

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S TWIZZLER

Uncle Ezra is eighty and Hiram is sixty. When Hiram is Uncle Ezra's age, eighty, Uncle Ezra will be a hundred and their ages added will be one hundred and eighty as the problem stated.

Stamp News

By I. S. Klein

WASHINGTON, D. C., will be the only city in the country in which first day sale of the new Susan B. Anthony stamp will be conducted, on Aug. 26.

To obtain first day covers, send not more than 10 addressed envelopes and U. S. postal money order covering the cost of the stamps required, at 3 cents each, to the Postmaster, Washington, D. C.

First of the new Army and Navy series of stamps may appear even before the Susan B. Anthony issue, but first day or place of sale has not yet been determined. Decision for release of this stamp may come so suddenly that there may be little or no time to prepare first day covers.

The souvenir sheet of four commemorative stamps, issued recently in connection with the stamp exposition in New York, may soon be withdrawn from sale at the Philatelic Agency in Washington.

Remainders of potato tax stamps, withdrawn from use, are to be sold by the U. S. Treasury Department to the stamp dealer entering the highest bid. So you may expect to see more of these on sale soon, through dealers.

Argentina is changing the design of its map stamp, which incorrectly showed the Falkland Islands as part of its territory. The new stamp will correct this error.

NEXT: What U. S. president later became chief justice of the supreme court?

BUILDING NEW ROADS

Up until now, we have been building our roads away from Santa Ana into the mountains, the canyons, and other remote places, the Ortega highway being an example.

It is time now to build some roads that will enlarge the population of Santa Ana and Orange county. Los Angeles is a large population center. Let's bring some of that population to Santa Ana and Orange county, but you cannot do it as long as it takes an hour to drive to and from Los Angeles.

The County Supervisors should take steps to acquire a right of way for through rapid transit roads to and from Los Angeles. These roads should be of the one-way type, of good width, and should be built with over or underpasses for all cross roads, thus permitting continuous high speed travel.

Our present roads are slow, unsafe, and out of date. The terrific increase of fatal accidents at intersections, demand that new roads be built to allow high speed travel with safety. If we had some new one-way roads to and from Los Angeles, with no danger from intersecting roads, Santa Ana would be only thirty minutes from Los Angeles, and with our city and county such a delightful place to live in, our population would increase at the rate of 10,000 or more a year.

In other words, let's build some roads for utility instead of scenery.

CAUSE FOR REJOICING

Residents of Orange county have reason to rejoice at the heartening news contained in the article yesterday which pointed out that Orange county is "tops" in the state governmentally, as well as agriculturally and culturally.

The 62-cent tax rate is the lowest ever put before the state of California, it was shown, despite a $7,000,000 cut in assessed valuations. Orange county slashed the tax rate seven cents over the figure of last year while neighboring counties must increase rates or be in an embarrassing financial position.

The fact that this county has cash reserves amounting to nearly $650,000 of which about $425,000 represents an amount not even considered in proposed expenditures reveals a significant fact—that governmental functions can be carried on, still giving adequate and complete service to the public, without extravagance.

Members of the board of supervisors are to be congratulated for keeping the financial feel of the Orange county ship on such an even level, without the necessity for drastic emergency cuts.

NINE PRINCIPLES OF TAXATION

We have never been able to think of but nine different theories or principles on which taxes could be levied. All taxes, in the past, have been levied on one of these principles, or a combination of them. They are as follows:

1. Ability to pay.
2. Benefits derived.
3. Conquest or confiscation.
4. Repudiation—inflation.
5. Lot or chance, as in the selection of soldiers by lot.
6. Payment of an equal amount per capita or poll tax.
7. Contributions—soldiers working for less than they could earn in private life, etc.
8. Unearned Increment.
9. In proportion as the individual costs the government, such as fines and a graduated tax on personal consumption of wealth.

The ability to pay theory is, in reality, a form of Communism.

Benefits derived theory, is a form of extortion and not practiced by any legitimate business. It is similar to a man telling a drowning man that he will pull him out of the water if he will pay in proportion to the benefits derived. It is certainly unethical. Conquest or confiscation lead to endless reprisals and is very expensive.

Repudiation and inflation discourage people from saving and, thus, retard the natural increase of wealth lowering the standard of living.

Lot and chance are not very practical. A poll tax is not fair because there is practically no cost to protecting a man without property and there is plenty of room for all our citizens if they do not require property.

Contributions will always be a part of successful government, by patriotic citizens working for less for the government than they could earn in private enterprise.

Unearned increment is certainly a just tax and should be part of the tax system because it prevents people from accumulating property that they do not produce but which is the result of society's combined effort.

Taxing according as the citizen costs the government is the practical, business-like, just way of raising the major part of taxes. It would be put into practice by a graduated tax on personal consumption. The readers have already read about this many times. Can the readers think of any other form of taxation?

PASSAMAQUODDY PROJECT

The other day, in a talk in Maine, President Roosevelt told the listeners that they believed in the Quoddy Project and that he did too; that it would eventually be built.

Here is an example of national planning and shows how impractical it is. This Project has been stamped as impractical and fantastical by practically every engineer of prominence in the country. Practically every economist points out the foolishness of trying to develop power from waves so far from industrial centers. Even if the project, from an engineer's standpoint, were practical, its utility would be of little value, located as it is so far from any need for power.

But under planned economy, the brains and judgment of engineers and the brains and judgment of the best managers of the country are not considered whatever. It is all left up to the fancy of the one man in the government who has the final say as to whether a project is practical or whether it is not practical. Millions and millions of other people's money must be spent on the decision of one man on subjects about which he knows nothing.

National planning by the government means that one man must have the final say on every imaginable kind of a project which, of course, is absurd. No one, but a conceited man, would ever assume so much power and responsibility.

When the private citizens are doing the planning we have the judgment, resources and managing talent of all the people.

The sum of all the judgments of our best planners is much better, of course, than one mind.

CONCLUSION OF A MAN IN THE BREAD LINE

In a long article in the Atlantic Monthly for August, Hugo Johanson sets forth the life of a man who spent four years under various forms of government work and assistance.

At the end of the article, he sets down some figures out of his estimates that he has cost the government $1184 in 53 months. He also concludes that the work he performed was worth $1680. He contends that he has only received what was equivalent to $251.50 and that the government is actually in debt to him $1428.50.

This gives the citizens a little idea as to the beliefs of the values of the services of some of the people who are working on government-made jobs. It does not look very encouraging for those people who are working on a competitive basis and are being obliged to take less than they are actually worth because there are so many people who are being supported by the government. It is not at all an encouraging picture.

"Look What I Did"

Day By Day In Washington

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1936)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Out of New York City came the other day a piece of news that caused some arching of eyebrows here—loans of yesterday in using government power to perpetuate themselves in office.

The news item was that Mrs. Elinore M. Herrick, regional director for the National Labor Relations Board in the metropolitan area, has taken "leave of absence" to help organize the labor party and aid in the reelection of President Roosevelt and Governor Lehman.

Time was when anybody who had a quasi-judicial office would hesitate to engage in politics, even by the quasi-discreet method of taking a leave of absence. Time was when persons who had judicial jobs to perform on supposed non-partisan boards and commissions would not think of taking a few months off to engage in direct political activity. Such things never were done even under the old deal because they were regarded as a contradiction of disinterestedness and as an implication of bias too palpable for public opinion to countenance.

Under the National Labor Relations Act, a regional director has important functions to perform, testimony to be taken, evidence to be weighed, decisions to be rendered. The warfare between employing capital and employee labor is sufficiently intense to cause mutual suspicion to be the basic apprehension when confronted with a request for mediation by a governmental body. Today the National Labor Relations Board is being fought in the courts, principally because it is suspected of being a prejudiced tribunal interested in only one side of an industrial dispute.

The government as an umpire, or as a holder of the scales of justice evenly, makes more headway in settling labor disputes than when the officials are believed to be in alliance with one party to the quarrel. The regional director of the New York area has some important controversies to adjudicate. These hearings are in the nature of preliminary trials, subject to review by the federal courts. But the rules of the existing statute give plenty of leeway to the local boards in enabling them to determine what are the "facts" in a given dispute, and very often these "findings of fact" are conclusive, leaving only broad questions of law to be decided by the reviewing courts.

So as regional director who is engaged in a partisan political fight to make a political party out of labor's organized groups raises in the minds of employers who must go before such tribunals the question of whether a fair hearing or trial can be obtained. In judicial experience, any judge who took "leave of absence" to fight a case for a party who might appear before his court would be disqualified from ever hearing any further cases in that category.

What is the relationship to the government of an official who has taken "leave of absence"? Actual-ly, the official in question has not resigned and holds office under the laws of the United States and is an officer of the federal government. If there had been a resignation, a cutting off of all ties, including the salary and the power to use the seal and authority of the government itself, there could be no possible criticism.

Government officials are forbidden to engage in politics according to the rules in various departments. It has always been taken for granted that members of commissions and judicial tribunals would keep off the stump. It is being said hereabouts to the credit of Mr. Farley, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, that he is refusing to make any speeches in behalf of the New Deal for fear it would be construed as a participation by the Federal Reserve Board in party politics. The custom has been for persons who act in a judicial capacity to keep out of partisan fields.

There is no possibility, however, of discipline being meted out to Mrs. Herrick or even reprimand from high quarters, because there is a precedent on which she justly can base her action. The postmaster general himself, a member of the cabinet of the president of the United States, has taken only a "leave of absence" whilst he manages the campaign of the New Deal party.

It is said that he offered to resign, but that the president wouldn't listen to it, merely agreeing to let Mr. Farley take "leave of absence" to satisfy the critics. The New Deal is constantly arguing about the increasing responsibilities of the federal government, about the need for modernizing the government because the 48 states are supposed to have outlived their usefulness in certain fields of public policy, but, as the federal government acquires more power, the logical corollary is that it might acquire more disinterestedness, more of a spirit of fairness between class interests, especially as the problems of labor are so difficult to adjust anyhow, without adding complications over the political activities of the tribunals charged with the enforcement of the law of labor relations.

This is one of the curious side-lights on New Deal policy which liberals and independents alike are at a loss to explain. But it is the history of all parties, whether Republican or Democratic, that once they acquire power, they use every means at their disposal to entrench themselves in office. That's why the disease of government bureaucracy is so much dreaded by the true liberals as the cancer that eats into the highest professions of virtue.

FRED FEERNOT AMONG THE STRIKERS

Scene, inside the palace.

Fred Feernot. Good afternoon, your majesty. You seem to be doing a good deal of royal pacing up and down.

King. So would you if you had to put up with what I have to put up with. This king business is getting worse instead of better. Strikes strikes strikes, nothing but strikes. In the old days when your subjects tried to start something you could teach them a healthy lesson by cutting their heads off, but times have changed now and there's a lot of public opinion that we didn't use to have. Today there's a big strike of taxpayers going on. Can you imagine anything more discouraging for the royal treasury?

Fred Feernot. Why don't you collect the taxes by force? What's the army for?

King. That's a good idea. But speaking of the army, here comes the general.

General. Good afternoon, your majesty. I've come to announce that the army has gone on strike. They want more uniforms and less drilling.

King. This is too much. Tell them if I hear another word I'll send the whole navy after them.

Fred Feernot. Speaking of the navy, here's the admiral.

Admiral. Greetings, your majesty. The royal navy is off on a strike. They don't know what they want yet, but they're striking to tawk it over and they'll probably think of something.

King. What a life.

Fred Feernot. I wouldn't stand for it, your majesty. Why don't you go on strike too?

King. That's a perfect idea. I'll strike for a month and go away somewhere and fish. Why don't you come with me, Fred, as a reward for the idea?

Fred Feernot. With pleasure, your majesty.

The end.

In the Long Ago

From The Register Files
25 Years Ago Today

AUGUST 7, 1911

Forest fires in the San Bernardino mountains are now practically under control and fire fighters are being paid off by Supervisor Charlton. Many of the fighters, weary and burnt from their duties, last night appealed for aid to San Bernardino police, and were given shelter in the jail. Forestry officials have not yet taken steps to pay the men, many of whom are in urgent need of the funds immediately.

Frank McLaughlin, who is building residences on North Main street for J. W. Bishop and Mit Phillips, returned this morning from Grant's Pass, Ore.

Among Santa Anas now occupying their summer cottages at Newport are the families of C. S. Forgy, J. M. Atkins, E. Utley, John McPadden, Herbert Walker, J. W. Power, H. C. Dawes, S. M. Davis. Others at the popular resort include Postmaster Lynn Shaw and family, the J. B. Heads, the Charles Claytons, the Claude Congdos and Mr. and Mrs. B. C. McMurray.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

SOME CURRENT DELUSIONS

I have been hoping that someone, during the 1936 campaign, would talk turkey to the nation about some of the utterly unfounded assumptions on which a large part of current economic thinking is based.

Somebody should explode the fallacy that the depression was due to a great excess of productive capacity in the United States that could be dealt with only by stopping or at least regulating general investment in production by deliberately limiting production, and artificially jacking up prices.

There is not a single fact to support this assumption. Somebody should explode the fallacy that the thing that has proved unworkable is a system of free competition.

There is not a single fact to support this assumption. On the contrary, both the business men and the politicians had injected into the free competitive system so many artificial rigidities, such as price-fixing and stabilization schemes, that we no longer had a system of free competition in the full and original sense. It was the mongrel economic system resulting from this monkeying with competition that broke down. Somebody should explode the fallacy that buying power can be spread widely enough to keep our economic system running at full tilt by the simple device of shortening hours and raising wages.

We can shorten hours and raise wages in an unprecedented way and, if we leave prices free to leap skyward without the check of free price competition, the worker can find himself worse off. And a general raising of all wages will affect only about 40 per cent of the whole working population. The small store keepers, men and women in the professions, and a large army of workers who lie outside the wage group must find help from some other policy.

And somebody should explode the fallacy that high prices help the prosperity of the country. When prices are raised, the purchasing power of every consumer is lowered, the volume of production is decreased, and the way to any general lifting of the living standards of the millions is effectively blocked.

The most needed job now crying to be done is a general debunking of the New Economics.

OUR CHILDREN

BY ANGELO PATRI

NETTING FOR THE BABY

The baby's equipment during the summer must include a white mosquito netting that will go over his crib or his carriage and completely shut out insects. To place a baby in the open without protection of this sort is to court trouble. The insects will gather upon him and make him miserable, if not sick.

The netting ought to be white because the dye is likely to come out of the colored nets when they are wet. It is just as well not to take any chance with colors that come out because babies put whatever they can possibly get hold of into their mouths and sample them well. Clean, white, mosquito netting is easy enough to get and does the work required.

It does close out a little of the air, it is true, but when the baby is outdoors there is air to spare. It is better to dispense with the small amount of air the netting displaces than to have the baby bitten, or threatened by disease. Then too, summer winds carry much dust, and the netting saves the baby some of that. White netting can be washed with very little effort or time.

Flies ought to be killed. In spite of screens they manage to get into the house and hide away in cracks. They come out when the children are resting, trying to sleep, or when they are having their meals. Somebody ought to say about the house regularly, with a fly swatter and kill every one of the pests in sight. I would encourage children to kill every fly they see. A folded newspaper makes a fine swatter. A record of the most flies killed, is a good incentive for this noble war.

Milk, any food that children are to eat, must be protected from house-flies and other insects. The milk container ought to be sterile and kept as clean and cool as the modern ice box can keep it. Flies carry dirt and infection on their hairy feet, and they drag those feet over the milk bottles, over the dishes on the table, if they get the chance. The food ought to be kept under cover, and the flies that threaten its purity should be killed before they get there.

If house-flies are numerous their source should be located and removed. Flies breed in filth, garbage, neglected waste of all sorts, stables, dairies, garbage containers, dumps. All should be examined and cleaned to prevent the flies from breeding. Stagnant water, even a pail left behind the house, breeds mosquitoes.

We make a fuss about the bites of flies and mosquitoes because a baby's skin is very sensitive. His body has not built up the essential resistance to disease. These insect pests are likely to cause him much needless irritation, if not illness. The irritation caused by bites wears down the baby's resistance to illness and opens the road to the germs that lurk on insects' feet or in their bites.

We can prevent ill health for little children by wearing on the insects first by a cleanliness drive, and then by providing good nets and screens.

CAPITAL AND WAGES

Editor Register:
In your editorial taking exceptions to the B. Z. McKinney Guest Editorial, you make the assertion that "in the United States wages are high because of the high capital cost."

That contention bears a strong resemblance to the Calvinistic theories on that subject, based on big business repatriation, in substance as follows: That labor is employed and paid, 1st, because capitalists are philanthropists and desire to spend their money where it will do the most public good; and 2nd, because capitalists are patriots and desire to invest their savings to develop the nation's resources, in order to promote the general welfare.

The facts tell a somewhat different story, for they suggest that the wages of labor are not only paid out of labor's earnings, but that ordinarily capital itself, beginning with a small investment, also grows to large proportions largely out of the earnings of labor. Andrew Carnegie was a poor man, not a capitalist, yet after 25 years in the steel business he sold out his interest for $400,000,000.00. He did not invest 1/1000th part of that vast sum, but had a faculty for using to his advantage the labor of others. The wages of labor in the steel industry were not only paid out of the earnings of labor, but such earnings were sufficient to aid substantially in the accumulation of gigantic fortunes in addition.

What is true of the steel business is likewise true of the other great industries such as lumber, copper, coal, petroleum and aluminum; and it is also true of the merchant princes, John Wanamaker, Marshall Field and A. T. Stewart. There are, of course, exceptions to the rule.

The Mellons made what would now be considered a trifling investment in aluminum manufacture. Out of the earnings they soon built up a capital of $600,000,000. In about 20 years the Aluminum Company of America reorganized with a capital of $30,000,000.00, accumulated in the surplus and undivided profits of the business. Here again labor was paid out of its own earnings and the surplus earnings rapidly totaled 100 times the original investment.

Henry Ford, the assets of whose company are now worth a billion dollars, was not a capitalist. His original investment was insignificant—less than is frequently paid for a single automobile. From modest beginnings he has built a business now of mammoth proportions, wherein labor not only paid for its wages out of its own earnings, but helped to build up the second largest fortune in America besides.

Mr. Ford is a mechanic, but it will hardly be contended that he earned his fortune by working for it and being thrifty. With an ever increasing number of employees the feat became possible.

Christ was a carpenter, but if He had worked every day until the present hour, and had drawn the highest wages paid for a carpenter or mechanic in Palestine throughout all the intervening centuries, He could not have earned a million dollars, let alone a billion.

The contention that wages of labor are paid by capital invested is closely akin to the sophistry that profits arise solely from the investment of capital; whereas the largest fortunes in America demonstrate that on the contrary capital usually arises from profits, and, further, that such profits are created largely by labor.

SHARPLESS WALKER.
